

Fear Shooting Incident May Torpedo Cuban Crisis Talks

Sees Lid 'Ready to Blow' On Reported SLA Racket

NEW YORK (AP)—Dist. Atty. Frank S. Hogan appeared to be getting ready today to blow the lid off a reported $1-million-a-year bribe racket involving the State Liquor Authority.

"I have a feeling this is a keg of dynamite," said one state senator, after a grand jury probe was unveiled.

'Lot of Money Involved'

"There's an awful lot of money involved," added the Republican senator, John J. Marchi of Staten Island, chairman of a joint legislative committee on intoxicating liquors.

U.S. - Reds Clash in U.N. Views

Zorin Says Castro Stand Legitimate

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—A threat by Prime Minister Fidel Castro to shoot down U.S. reconnaissance planes heightened the fears of many delegates today that a shooting incident might torpedo talks to settle the Cuban crisis.

In Washington, U.S. officials were inclined to think that the Russians would not support Castro in any military action risking U.S. retaliation. There was a conviction that anti-aircraft missile batteries in Cuba are manned by Russians not subject to Castro's orders.

Will Protect Planes

Nevertheless, Castro got Soviet verbal support Friday as U.S. Delegate Arthur Dean and Soviet Delegate Valerian A. Zorin clashed on the issue before the U.N. Political Committee.

Zorin called the Cuban leader's warning against U.S. flights "perfectly legitimate."

Dean declared the United States would continue scout missions over Cuba as long as necessary and give its planes protection if need be.

Flights Essential: Dean

He told the 119-nation committee that Castro's threat carries no weight with the United States. Such flights are essential, Dean said, until Premier Khrushchev carries out his promise of on-site inspection to make sure the Soviet rockets have been pulled out of Cuba.

Dean rapped the Russians for installing missile bases in Cuba while assuring President Kennedy that no offensive weapons were being sent to Castro.

Dean said Khrushchev had been found "with his hand in the Cuban missile plot, or if you will, plot."

Stung by Dean's remarks, Zorin said any attempt by the United States to violate Cuban sovereignty, "cannot but provoke universal condemnation."

Zorin charged that the U.S. flights were unlawful and the United States' decision to continue them caused "deep concern for the peace of the world."

The exchange was triggered by Cuban Ambassador Carlos Lechuga, who interrupted the committee's disarmament debate to announce that Castro's warning went into effect "as of today."

No Weekend Talks

Reliable sources said U.S. Ambassador Adlai E. Stevenson had told Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Vasily V. Kuznetsov of the U.S. determination to continue Cuban surveillance Thursday night during the latest round of crisis bargaining.

U.S. sources said more talks with the Soviet negotiating team were expected, but none was scheduled for the weekend.

In Moscow, the official Soviet military newspaper Red Star declared the Soviet Union was solidly supporting Castro.

Washington May Boost Pressure On Jet Removal

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States is reported to be increasing its diplomatic pressure on Russia for prompt removal of Soviet jet bombers in Cuba.

Withdrawal of the planes — the last of the offensive weapons to which the United States made specific objection — dominates all U.S.-Soviet contacts, including personal exchanges between President Kennedy and Soviet Premier Khrushchev, informants said.

Issue of Good Faith

Kennedy is understood to have made clear to Khrushchev that it will be impossible for the United States to move on any other front of diplomatic relations until the bomber problem is settled.

The President and his advisers regard it in large part as an issue of good faith, since Khrushchev promised to take from Cuba all the offensive weapons to which Kennedy objected and not just the 42 missiles cleared out last week-end.

Washington officials said the bomber issue is of greater concern than Prime Minister Fidel Castro's threat to shoot down U.S. reconnaissance aircraft.

Gemini Shot Doubtful Before Start of 1964

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The first two-man U.S. space flight has been delayed at least three months and most likely will not be made before 1964.

"We might even have further slips," a U.S. space agency official said Friday at the American Rocket Society convention.

Robert R. Gilruth, director of the agency's Manned Space Craft Center at Houston, Tex., said the delay was not due to a shortage of funds for the two-man Gemini astronaut program. It just takes time "to do this very complicated job," he said.

Lists Titan 3 Program

In other convention developments, Air Force Secretary Eugene M. Zuckert announced the start of a billion-dollar program under which the Titan III super rocket will be developed, and Dr. Hugh L. Dryden, deputy administrator of the space agency, said construction of huge orbiting space stations may be the nation's next large manned space project.

Gilruth declined to specify what technical problems have delayed the Gemini program. But he said the first launching of an unmanned Gemini capsule "has slipped from the third quarter to the fourth quarter of 1963."

"There is virtually no possibility of a manned flight before 1964," he said.

Gilruth came here to receive the Robert H. Goddard Memorial Award. The award, highest honor bestowed by the rocket society, is named for the father of American rocketry and is given each year for eminence in the field of rocket engineering and space flight.

Work Starts Dec. 1

Zuckert said contracts for the Titan III program have either been signed or are being negotiated. Actual work will start Dec. 1, he said.

The Titan III will be a three-stage rocket employing liquid and solid fuels. The Air Force and space agency expect the rocket to be a workhorse in future satellite and space probe missions.

The Titan III's first job will be to boost the X20 Dyna-Soar aerospace vehicle into orbit for the Air Force. Titan III will have a thrust of 2.5 million pounds and will stand 151 feet high when topped by the Dyna-Soar vehicle.

Dr. Dryden told the convention he believes construction of space stations will take precedence over extensive exploitation of the moon.

But, he said, "this might change if the early lunar exploration returned surprises in the form of natural resources of use on earth."

4th Saturn May Be Fired Next Spring

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—The United States has taken another stride toward the moon with the third straight successful test launching of the Saturn super-boosters.

The monster rocket performed flawlessly Friday on a 4-minute 55-second flight in which the booster's tanks were fully fueled for the first time. As on the two previous shots, only the first stage was tested and its eight engines built up the planned thrust of 1.3 million pounds.

Policy Explained In Gun Handling Case of Trooper

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP)—State Police Supt. Arthur Cornelius Jr. says the division merely applied a long-standing policy in ordering the suspension of a state police sergeant who fired a warning shot.

Cornelius said Friday in a statement that the judicious use of firearms had been a basic principle of the State Police Division since its founding in 1917.

The superintendent said his statement was prompted by publicity concerning the case of Sgt. Alfred E. Matuljak, who was ordered suspended on several charges, including that he fired a warning shot to halt a fleeing burglar suspect.

Matuljak is a former station commander at Lake Katrine Barracks where he served for approximately a year until the spring of 1961. He was reassigned to Troop G, Loudonville.

Matuljak was ordered suspended for five days and placed on probation for six months. He took his case to the State Supreme Court, however, and Cornelius was directed to show why the punishment should not be set aside.

Cornelius said the first superintendent, Col. George R. Chandler, had dictated a policy that no

Nehru Troops Yield As China Reds Push

NEW DELHI, India (AP)—The Communist Chinese pressed their counterattack around key defense outposts at Wang, forcing out numbered Indian troops to yield some ground, the Defense Ministry reported today.

Indian reinforcements were flown into the northeast battle area on commandeered civilian airliners, informed sources said.

Fierce Fighting Continues

"Our troops are offering stout resistance but had to yield after successive attacks by the enemy," said a Defense Ministry spokesman. "Fierce fighting is still going on, according to the late report here, on Saturday morning."

The Wang positions are considered highly important by Indian commanders because a Chinese Red advance into India's Assam State.

The spokesman said Indian forces repulsed four Chinese attacks around Jang, about 300 miles west of Wang.

Jang is near Towang, another strategic defense point, it lies below the Indian defense line of the 13,756-foot Se Pass.

Brace for Assaults

The Defense Ministry spokesman said the Chinese attacked at Wang in numbers considerably superior to ours after Red artillery laid down artillery and heavy mortar fire.

Informed sources said India was rushing troops up the Brahmaputra River Valley of Assam State.

Indian commanders braced for possible Chinese assaults on two other critical points.

Perhaps most vulnerable of the two points is Chushul airfield, nearly three miles high in the mountains of Ladakh at the western end of the disputed border. Chushul is the key to the Indian effort to hold a defense line in that region where 2,500 square miles of territory have been lost since the Chinese offensive began Oct. 20.

Vital to Assam Plains

The other critical point is some 1,000 miles to the east around the Buddhist monastery town of Towang in India's northeast frontier district. The Indian defenses

City Police Apprehend Two On Charges of Truck Theft

Two area men await trial on charges of grand larceny second degree today as the result of a reported truck theft Friday night.

James DeCicco of Third Avenue reported to City Police around 9:50 p. m. Friday that his brown truck had been stolen.

Shortly afterwards, police apprehended Kenneth White, 22, of 11 Country Club Drive, Mt. Marion Park, and John Scully, 23, of 72 Garden Street, according to reports at police headquarters.

Reports said that the arrest was made on Mill Street near the intersection of Ann Street and are based on 13,756-foot Se Pass, a dozen miles southeast of Towang.

Any large-scale battle there might determine whether the Chinese would carry the border war into a full-scale invasion of the thickly settled plains of Assam below the mountains.

By Chinese account, Indian forces already have launched an attack in the Towang area.

A Chinese broadcast mentioned fighting there as well as in the Wang region 300 miles to the east, where the Indians said Friday they were holding their ground against what they called a massive Chinese counterattack.

The Chinese struck in the Wang area, near the Burma border, Thursday night after a week in which each side tested the other's positions with patrol actions.

Rotron Furloughs 35 Temporarily, Will Recall Most

Rotron Manufacturing Co., Inc., of Woodstock, announced today that approximately 35 employees were being temporarily laid off. This action is being taken although sales to date for the current fiscal year are above previous years.

It was also anticipated that the sales for the year will exceed prior years. The impact of new products will not be felt until later in the year.

The majority of the employees involved were originally hired on a temporary basis in anticipation of a greater sales growth than is currently being experienced.

Rotron anticipates that many of the employees affected will be back with the company in the next several months.

The POWER of FAITH

By WOODI ISHMAEL

"The best thanksgiving," said Cotton Mather, one of the great colonial spiritual leaders, "is thanks-living."

The words Mather spoke in a Thanksgiving Day sermon in Boston in 1689 are as timely today as they were then, for he based them on the ageless pages of scripture.

Mather quoted Isaiah, "Sing unto the Lord; for He hath done excellent things. This is known in all the earth."

"Since excellent things are done by God," Mather told his congregation, "there are two things to be done by us. First, we ought with many praises to observe the excellent things which God has done for ourselves. Secondly, we ought with many praises to observe the excellent things which God has done for others...Our lives are likewise to be employed in the praises of God. We have hands as well as tongues for it."

Mather concluded with the words of the 105th Psalm: "Give thanks unto the Lord; call upon His name: Make known His deeds among the people...Talk ye of all His wondrous works."

European Bishops Find New Unity in Ecumenical Council

VATICAN CITY (AP) — European Catholicism is entering a new era of close community. Common Market style, a leading Roman Catholic churchman believes.

"For the first time in the history of the church in Europe, bishops have come together for collaboration on common problems," said Franziskus Cardinal Koenig, archbishop of Vienna.

He said in an interview that the new sense of mutual identity among European prelates has emerged at the Vatican Ecumenical Council, and he predicted it will continue.

Many Churchmen Involved

It has involved, he said, church leaders of Germany, Belgium, France, the Netherlands, Austria, Switzerland, Poland and Yugoslavia, areas of differing languages, and often, historical divisions.

"In the past," Cardinal Koenig said, "we have been separated by these frontiers. There has been some contact among bishops on an individual basis, but never before have we come together on this wide European basis."

As the cardinal sees it, the new European ecclesiastical association, paralleling in some respects the emerging economic ties in Europe, is among the most significant developments of the council.

Establish Common Ground

"It is very important," he said, "We've found we have very much in common, more than we knew. We have established contacts here that will not disappear again."

The cardinal, 57, a scholar in comparative religion who once was a theology professor at the universities of Vienna and Salzburg, said the new pattern is part of a new church's emphasis on regional leadership.

"We have come to a time when the bishops need more latitude of action," he said.

Proposals for spreading more authority among the bishops, with less power centered on the Vatican Curia, are to be considered by the current council.

Special Program

A special radio program, The Time for Gratitude will be presented on the weekly Christian Science radio series this Sunday in observance of Thanksgiving. The broadcast entitled The Bible Speaks to You will be heard locally over Station WKNY at 8:15 a. m.

KINGSTON, NEW YORK, NOVEMBER 17, 1962

BUNDLE DAYS COLLECTION

The Kingston Schools are cooperating with Save the Children Federation in the annual drive to collect good used clothing for children and adults in America's Southern Mountains and elsewhere.

Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of next week the teachers and students of our local schools will participate in this 21st Bundle Days Collection.

A Federation report that devastating spring floods in the Southern Appalachian Mountain region resulting from the hardest winter in 76 years have nearly depleted our clothing supply reveals the urgent need for warm coats, dresses, suits, shoes and all kinds of good wearable used clothing for children and adults.

Save the Children Federation operates 107 clothing centers in the Southern Appalachians where 1,091,709 pounds of used clothing collected by American school children is sold at a very low price. Many of these mountaineers are poor but proud; for them there is more dignity involved when they pay something for the clothing than when they receive it free. The Federation also makes available to the county welfare workers or attendance teachers clothing which may be distributed free where needed.

"Save the Children Federation, the 30-year-old, non-sectarian, international welfare organization, is registered with the U. S. State Department Advisory Committee on Voluntary Foreign Aid. Children are aided by the Federation through sponsorships, family, school and community self-help projects and the annual collection of used clothing. The Federation helps American Indian children, those in the Southern Appalachian Mountains and in many countries overseas.

Though the Russians lead in medium missiles, we're ahead in the big ones. Anyone who derives comfort from this just hasn't figured the odds.

'TWILL EVER BE THUS

The mass walkout of Russian construction workers at an industrial site in Siberia is the latest indication that things are not as they once were in the U.S.S.R. when Stalin ruled supreme.

On the other hand, this overt demonstration of dissatisfaction with living conditions shows that some things have not changed, even after 45 years of communism. Human nature, for instance.

Consider the remark of an official in charge of state investment in the area. Citing the problem of constant labor turnover, he said:

"If you cannot interest a person from a material point of view, you are not going to keep him on the job."

The discovery of this elementary truth apparently comes as a profound shock to the Marxists. It goes contrary to the book. A new type of selfless, dedicated Soviet man was supposed to be in the making, free of the distortions caused by "capitalistic exploitation."

Russians, however, seem to behave much like anybody else once state direction of their lives is relaxed ever so slightly. They want the good life today, not in some promised Utopia to come.

There were a lot of mighty close election races—but this won't prevent the winners from acting as though they had a big popular mandate for their views.

A TRIBUTE TO A.A.

It is a pleasure to devote a bit of our space to saluting an organization which has quietly performed miracles. The occasion we note is the recently celebrated 28th anniversary of the founding of Alcoholics Anonymous.

Years ago, Alcoholics Anonymous was the butt of many a crude joke. This is true no longer, and has not been for a long time. There is widespread recognition that this group, by offering heavy drinkers a way out of their particular morass, has done incalculable good in society.

'These Days'

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY
IS THE THEATER A BORE?

Lillian Hellman, writing in "Esquire," says that the Broadway theater is a bore. Miss Hellman has written some remarkable plays herself. "The Little Foxes" might have disgusted, but they did not bore. The same could be said, in another decade, of Ibsen's "Doll's House."

The theater is a bore because it has lost tone; it is cheap. It is vulgar. Even when one enters the building, there is no tone, no temple-like illusion. There is no orchestra to play before the curtain rises. No lull, no hush, just a hullabaloo like in a movie house, with hucksters shouting about cold drinks and hat-chicks looking for a hat and coat to check.

One sits down and waits. It is difficult to look through the program in peace, particularly if it happens to be a benefit performance for which the charge for the ticket is enormous, so that the peculiar and particular charity can get some money.

As soon as the curtain goes up, in come the late ones. Of course, they would want their money back, and loudly too, if they were required to stand in back until the act is over. I once thought it would be smart if a spotlight were focussed on the late-comers, but that was a mistake; they would enjoy the spotlight.

So it is a musical—a loud, noisy musical with the music written like some art is painted—if you understand it, you are a self-proclaimed dope. A musical consists of two acts usually: the first act is the beginning; the second act is the end. It is true that such musicals as "Music Man," "My Fair Lady" and "Oklahoma" have substance and structure. But they are exceptions. The public wants it swift, meaningless, and loud—Oh! How loud! Give the public what it wants. We are still waiting for a "Merry Widow."

Miss Hellman makes the point that in the 1920's, the theater had great writers. Surely in the 1900's and 1910's, we had even greater writers. The American theater has degenerated. The writers are a response to public demand.

Watch the faces when a pretty girl ends the second act with a dirty word! You would imagine the audience would be tired of the theater sounding like a bar-room, but apparently the women customers like it. I watch their faces; yes, it is the women who get the big thrill. They would, in this generation, regard Maude Adams as a square.

Miss Hellman says: "... I think our preoccupation with 'love' and 'aloneness' comes straight out of ten-cent-store Freud. Love is a very large theme and unless writers can do it big, they should leave it alone ..."

There is much wisdom in this, particularly in the current conception of love, which is really a misconception of the relationship of love, that can be loyalty, charity, adoration, with physical sex that can sometimes be an ugly expression of irresponsible responses to extravagant stimuli. Perhaps because Shakespeare and George Bernard Shaw understood love, they come back year after year, and are always box office attractions. They grasped more than the onlooker can ever experience and therefore set up a yearning that cannot be assuaged. Ibsen, to a degree, possessed this gift but he was more emotional than intellectual.

The current exaggeration of sex, even in the most serious atmosphere, is an extravagance of a luxurious age which must lessen as we become aware of our more serious problems. Time after time, one hears in the lobby, "So what did they prove?" The fact is that the composite authors of current plays usually do not seek to prove anything. They prefer to provide an evening's entertainment, even if to do so, they put the orchestra on the stage as an extravaganza. After all, that is all that Minsky tried to do in his burlesque—to provide an evening's entertainment.

Audiences, in this country, need to be retrained. The theater is not a movie house. Maybe Rocky could do it better, but the theater is a temple and the opera is the Holy of Holies of art. In many opera houses, the doors are closed during the overture. Recently, I witnessed the new mounting of "Die Meistersinger," a perfection of all the arts, music, dance, painting, sculpture, lighting, and folks walked in and out, using their feet like dragons. It is the audience that gets what it wants.

The Mature Parent

Parent Must Admit Anger

By MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

John had climbed up on the front porch railing and was trying to walk along it when his mother discovered him. She punished him by sending him to his room until lunch. But though she called him to lunch, ostensibly ending the punishment, it was not really ended. She was so annoyed by the fright his rail-walking had given her that she served him his sandwich without speaking to him. And when he asked for fruit juice instead of milk, she snapped, "It's all gone. You just finish your milk and get out of this kitchen so I can get on with my work."

So John knew that his mother was still offended by his mistake in judging his ability to walk on the porch railing.

If she continues to maintain disapproval of him after punishment, she will cripple his own capacity to forget his mistakes.

We all know people who can never forget any mistake or offense they give to other persons. Sometimes such people behave like scared rabbits when they have offended us, pursuing us with self-justifying explanations of why they could not invite us to their cocktail party. Unable to forget their mistakes, they feel nobody else can forget the offenses either.

It is parents who maintain their withdrawal and disapproval of an offending child who train the child in this kind of tragic expectation of unending constraint between himself and anyone he has displeased.

If we are not fully freed of anger at a youngster after we have reproved or punished him, it is essential that we register our continuing resentment at him. But it is essential that we openly admit it to him. Instead of making him feel inadequate because we have not overcome our feeling we must accept ourselves the responsibility for our persisting annoyance.

When we refuse to take this responsibility, the child can only assume that his offense is so awful that we will never forget or forgive him. And in him will grow the conviction that all the mistakes he makes mean unending resentment in the people he offends.

Alcoholics Anonymous also has done much to educate the public in the facts about alcoholism. It has done this without great sums of money; it is kept going by voluntary donations, none exceeding $100.

One of the co-founders of the organization, a man who prefers to be known only as Bill W., had this to say at the anniversary celebration: "A.A. is a synthesis of medicine and religion plus the alcoholic's ability to transmit to another alcoholic in depth." The synthesis has worked, and has brought many compulsive drinkers back from despair to a normal and useful life.

Kennedy may have it easier as a result of the election, says Truman. That's probable; he couldn't have it much harder.

And What's More, They Aren't Pink

Washington News

BY PETER EDSON
Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — Resignation of Fowler Hamilton as administrator of the Agency for International Development after a year's service illustrates better than anything else how not to run a foreign aid program.

In the 14 years the United States has been in this program it has had a new boss every year or so. It has been repeatedly reorganized by three presidents and their succession of administrators and constantly disorganized by Congress.

HAMILTON HAD A ROUGH-ER EXPERIENCE than most in trying to get this year's aid appropriations from Congress. The beginning he may have had the idea that he would be the administrator and the job of lobbying for appropriations would be left to his deputy, former Rep. Frank M. Coflin.

But Congress likes to deal with the head man. So Hamilton was forced to pound the marble corridors and wait on most of the congressmen in their offices to hustle and beg for his money. To his credit, he did pretty well at it.

But this is an experience few people like to go through twice. Also, Congress let the Kennedy administration know that the AID program would have to be completely reorganized again next year if it expected further Senate and House approval.

Hamilton, having just completed a top-to-bottom AID housecleaning and shift of personnel, might justifiably feel he had given the agency all he had and couldn't reorganize again. He recruited a new staff of administrators and deputy administrators for every country where AID does business. They have all been given special training for their jobs, including instruction in the language of the country to which they're assigned. But now that they are nearly all in place, the man who hired them and the man to whom they should be loyal up and quits. If this doesn't disorganize the agency and wreck morale, it should.

AT A TWO-DAY MEETING of top AID executives held in the President's hideout at Camp David, Md., the weekend before election, Hamilton reviewed his year's operations.

"We have made progress," said Hamilton in calling this conference, "but I am far from satisfied. We must examine our objectives, our strategy and our performance and find ways to do this job better."

This was his swan song and admission of leaving the job less than half finished for others to do.

This has been the experience of foreign aid programs from the beginning. Paul Hoffman, first head of the original Marshall Plan, is the only one of a long list of administrators who got out of town with a clean conscience. But he left after two years, with the job only half done.

In the succession of foreign aid administrators since then, each one has left his mark. The name of the outfit has been changed. Its objectives have been changed from civilian to military aid, from grants to loans, from short term to long term programs. From Harry Truman's "Point Four" to technical assistance, from mutual security to international co-operation and now in Alliance for Progress which hasn't progressed.

Lions to Aid Park Facilities

NEW PALTZ—At the recent meeting of the New Paltz Lions Club Board of Directors it voted to budget the funds realized from the upcoming Lions Directory toward increasing facilities of the Mike Morfello Park.

The park has been a yearly project of the club. The last activity supporting the park realized the installation of the filtration equipment of the swimming pool.

It is expected that the directory, last published in 1960, will be ready for distribution the first of February. It will include maps of the town and village together with historical information, a compilation of local data, and a census of all householders. This last task is now being completed by the individual members of the Lions Club.

The Eye and Sight Conservation program, another project of the club, is continuing with recent donations of eyeglasses and examinations.

The first ladies' night of the Lions Club this season will be held at the Granit Hotel, Accord, tonight at 6:30.

Do You Remember by Sophie Miller

No doubt Kingstonians who pass the Court House seldom think that the first Governor of New York State, George Clinton, was inaugurated there on July 27, 1777. It was a simple ceremony because men were busy fighting for freedom and their rights. The men quickly stood up some barrels on end, and putting planks over them to form a platform for the ceremony.

The above is mentioned in a book called "City of Kingston" published by the Board of Trade in 1962. The pictures and coverage of our city was by Howard Hendricks. The only information I could find on Hendricks, was that he was an advertising agent and lived at 306 Clinton Avenue. I would say, he did an excellent job of gathering material and especially his rare photographs of old Kingston and its streets.

Quoting a few lines from his "Old Stone Houses" chapter he wrote: "Another most important old structure is the stone Court House, also on Wall Street. The original Court House and Jail were erected in 1782. This was afterward rebuilt and finally replaced by the present structure in 1818. (Many of us call it, "The 1818") To this, extensive additions have been made of the most modern and substantial character in recent years," he wrote in 1902, and further added: "And today this old Court House is regarded as one of the finest and best preserved stone buildings erected in the beginning of the last century ... In the rear, on Crown Street, a model jail building, of huge native limestone blocks, rock-finished with chilled-steel fittings, has just been completed at a cost of $75,000."

Mr. Hendricks mentions "Among the other noted old houses, the Elmsford Tavern, corner Fair and Maiden Lane, where the Council of Safety met and were in session on October 15, 1777, when the first news of Burgoyne's surrender was received. It was built in 1723. Diagonally across the street was the old Bogardus Tavern, where the first Assembly of the State met and important social functions held. The famous Kingston Academy was at the corner of John and Crown Street in 1774."

In 1783 Congress and the nation were eagerly looking for a suitable site for the National Capital, wrote Mr. Hendricks, and the people of Kingston, supported by the Legislature of the State, sent a petition offering two square miles of land within the town for this purpose. What happened and why the National Capitol went elsewhere is of course history.

Mr. Hendricks included pictures of Kingston Point Park in his 1902 book. It was said, that they had expensive imported flowers in the park. There is also a picture of the residence of Hon. S. B. Sharpe before it was moved back from Albany Avenue to become part of the Governor Clinton Hotel. Gen. George G. Sharpe erected a monument to the 120th New York Regiment in the Old Dutch graveyard, which is still there. A picture in those books shows the delegation at the unveiling of the statue. In 1902 Kingston had a well set up Rondout, with many good brick, stone and wooden structures for private homes and businesses. Mr. Hendricks included pictures of Wall Street, North Front Street, Broadway from Spring Street, also the Peckham Manufacturing Co. showing some six large buildings, one with high brick smokestack.

The buff dinner will be held in the social room of the church Saturday with servings at 5, 6, 7 and 8 o'clock. Tickets are still available at Pine's Gift Shop, Lane-Sargent Variety Store, and the church office.

The communicants class will meet with the Rev. Mr. Wulfschlegler in the consistory room at 9 a. m. Saturday.

The senior youth supper meeting will be held on Sunday 6:30 p. m. in the youth lounge. Kathryn Winkley will be in charge of the meeting with Mr. and Mrs. Donald Martin as guest leaders.

Claims Carpeting Available Both in N. Y., Hong Kong

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) — New carpeting for the Assembly Chamber was available in New York State as well as in Hong Kong, an Upstate carpet - manufacturing company says.

Mohasco Industries Inc. of Amsterdam said Friday that the carpeting purchased for $38,000 from mills in the South and in Hong Kong could have been obtained through two sales divisions of its New York State plant.

Assembly Speaker Joseph Carlino had said previously that the Amsterdam firm refused to fill the order because the contractor offering it was not an authorized Mohasco dealer.

Mohasco said in a statement that D. Halfaia Sons of Man-hasset, the contractor, "does not handle the Mohawk Product line."

But, Mohasco said, "the firm does have access to the products of Mohasco's other two sales divisions, namely Alexander Smith Carpets and Firth Carpets. The carpet requirements of the Assembly could have been fulfilled by either of the two contract sales divisions."

The two divisions regularly sell carpeting to the state through the Division of Standards and Purchase.

The Legislature, however, is not required to purchase through the division, and Carlino awarded the carpet contract to Kalfiaia on Sept. 28 without competitive bidding.

A Carlino spokesman said this was done because there was need for speed to install the carpet prior to the opening of the 1963 Legislature in January.

The purchase was made, Carlino's office said, for about the same price as if there had been competitive bidding.

Riparian Rights Change Necessary To Solve Problem

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) — New York State may have to modify an age-old principle governing land owners' water rights as a step toward fuller use of water resources, two experts contend.

The change may be necessary, they say, in the principle of riparian rights, descended from old English law, which guarantee land owners full use of water passing by their property.

Discussed at Parley

The principle drew close attention of delegates to a day-long conference Friday on management of water resources. More than 100 government and industry specialists in the field attended the meeting, sponsored by Associated Industries of New York State.

A thorough review of the principle was proposed by Armand Adams, counsel to the Joint Legislative Committee on Conservation Law, and Morris M. Cohn, consultant to the Temporary State Commission on Water Resources Planning.

Cohn suggested that the state conduct a study to determine if the principle "is in gear with the increasing needs of modern times."

Adams emphasized the need for full use of all of the state's water. He cited shortages of water in certain parts of the state at certain times and referred to the need for water for irrigation.

Suggests Modification

Adams suggested that the riparian principle might be modified to permit use of surplus water—such as storm water that spills over dams and runs to the sea without benefit to anyone.

Cohn, however, hastened to assure that no major change was contemplated. "Water rights are sacred," he said.

But, he added, "we should find out if there is an increment of water over and above that which is reasonably held by riparian rights that could be used without damage to the riparian owner."

Hard to Define

Another speaker, Ronald Peterson, deputy state commissioner of commerce, said that it would not be possible to define "surplus." He cautioned against tampering with the time-honored riparian principle.

The conference also fixed attention on sharp criticism of the federal government's attitude toward industrial pollution problems.

L.W. Roznoy, director of air and water pollution for the Olin Matheson Chemical Corp. said the state government should consider a plant's economic value to a community as well as the value of a clean stream.

Joseph R. Shaw, president of Associated Industries, said industry had spent millions of dollars for anti-pollution measures in the past decade.

Seen More Aggressive

"But," he added, "the federal government is getting more and more aggressive. It reflects an anti-industry attitude. They are blinding themselves to the economic facts of life."

Shaw contended that industry's water needs would be met best by expanding the state's role in management of water resources rather than abandoning the task to the federal government.

Bloomington Vols To Canvass in MD Drive on Sunday

In a recent announcement, Fred Sauer, president of the Bloomington Fire Company, Inc., said Bloomington would participate in the house-to-house drive to aid muscular dystrophy this Sunday afternoon and urged all Bloomington Fire District residents to expect the volunteers sometime during Sunday afternoon.

Two Bloomington pumpers will be used in the district canvass, which will begin at 12:45 p. m. from the firehouse.

In addition to the muscular dystrophy campaign, the firemen will utilize this opportunity, according to Sauer, to distribute new emergency telephone number cards throughout the district. These cards contain the phone numbers to be used by district residents to summon the fire company for a fire or other emergency.

Sauer has urged all residents to post these cards near their telephones so that the numbers will be immediately available if needed. The Bloomington Fire Protection District includes Bloomington, Creek Locks, Eddyville, Whiteport, Maple Hill and Route 32 north to the city line.

Following a recent company meeting, it had been announced that the fire company will conduct a membership drive throughout its district during December and January. Any male resident of the district over 18 is eligible for membership.

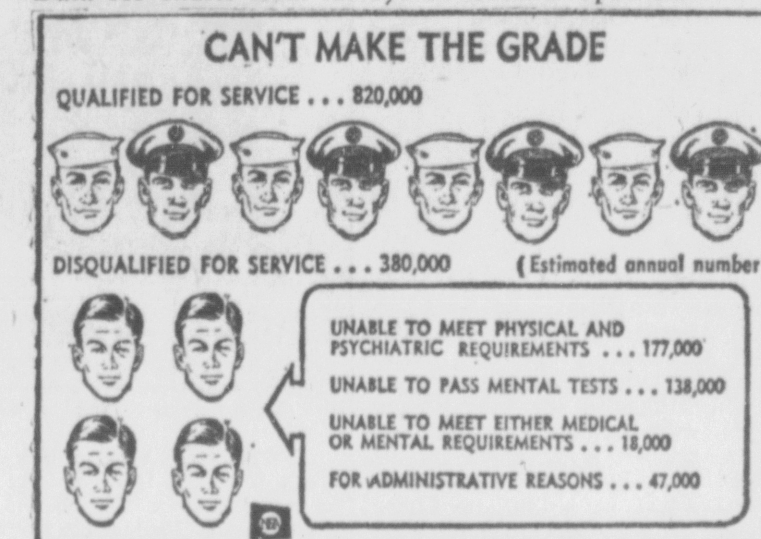

As an incentive during the drive, the customary initiation fee usually required will be waived. Applications are currently available from any fireman and further details of the drive are expected to be announced shortly.

Dutchess to Ban Garbage Burning In Township Dump

Indefinite burning of refuse on the Town of Poughkeepsie dump will not be permitted by Dutchess County Health Commissioner Lewis E. Patrie in light of state legislation which becomes effective Jan. 1.

Dr. Patrie did not set a specific deadline for discontinuance of the present practice of burning. The health official stated that although the Department of Health will be conducting an objective air pollution survey in Dutchess County over a 12-month period starting early next year, the information received would make it impossible for him to permit burning to continue at the town disposal site.

The Town Council has set a tentative date of Dec. 18 for a referendum on a proposed city-town incinerator project.

Enters Innocent Plea

A 51-year-old Hudson River State Hospital senior account clerk, pleaded innocent Friday before Dutchess County Judge John R. Haiti to Deport 3 Priests for Anti-Voodoo Acts

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP)—The Negro Republic of Haiti, in a renewal of a feud with the Church, accused a Roman Catholic bishop Friday of crusading against voodoo and ordered him and three priests deported.

The Haitian government also charged that the 60-year-old French-born bishop, the Most Rev. Paul Robert, had conducted a defamation campaign against strongman President Francois Duvalier in 1957, when Duvalier won reelection to a second term. The bishop was called "an enemy of the government."

Date Back to 1941

The voodoo charges dated back to 1941.

Bishop Robert and the priests were to fly to New York today via Miami, Fla. The bishop was to go on to Rome to report to the Vatican.

The priests, also French-born, were identified only as Robin, George Martin and Salim. The expulsions brought to 12 the number of Catholic clergymen ordered out of Haiti in the last two years by Duvalier.

The president of the French-speaking nation was excommunicated in January 1961 for his role in expelling other high-ranking clergy on charges of allegedly conspiring with Communists. Vatican sources at that time said the clergy resisted the government's attempt to impose the voodoo tradition on Catholicism.

Duvalier regards primitive religions with more than average interest.

Removed to Home

The Haitian government, unsuccessful in efforts to have the Vatican recall Bishop Robert from his diocese at Gonaives, removed him to a home for aged priests in the capital city of Port-au-Prince in February 1961.

The bishop, in Haiti for 39 years, and other clerics got a few Haitians in 1941 to take anti-sepulture oaths and destroy their voodoo temples and charms. The government cracked down on the church effort.

Voodooism, introduced into the Caribbean and the southern United States by African slaves, relies largely on sorcery and the use of charms. Rites at one time involved the sacrifice of humans. The primitive religion retains its strongest hold in Haiti.

rested on a belief the Russians would not support Castro in any military action that was sure to bring U.S. retaliation. It was assumed here that the big surface to air missile bases of which the Soviets set 22 up in Cuba are under Soviet command and the control of S-viet troops.

Could Increase Tensions

Authorities said that Castro certainly has the power to fire on and perhaps to knock down some U.S. planes. And there was no denial that if this happened it would bring a rapid increase in tensions in the Cuban crisis and mark the beginning of a dangerous new period.

Whether it would also have the result of causing Khrushchev to look more carefully at his policy on the IL28 jet bombers is a question. Since he has lost Cuba as a major nuclear missile base authorities here find it hard to believe he would pay much of a price to retain weapons of secondary importance there at the cost of serious trouble with the United States.

President Kennedy so far has not set a deadline to get the bombers out, but such a possibility has not been ruled out.

He added: "The order should in no way interfere with the enforcement of the law. A criminal can always be caught, but the life of an innocent person cannot be restored."

Secret Indictments Are Given in Ole Miss Riot

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

OXFORD, Miss. (AP)—The Lafayette County grand jury, blaming federal marshals for "agitating and provoking violence" during desegregation rioting at the University of Mississippi, has handed down two secret indictments.

No names were released by the grand jury as it acted Friday after studying for a week the Sept. 26 riot that followed the arrival of James H. Meredith, a Negro, on the Ole Miss campus.

However, it lashed out at Chief U.S. Marshal James P. McShane for his order to fire tear gas at demonstrators that night.

"We find that this illegal action on the part of McShane set off the tragic violence which followed," the grand jury report said.

Sheriff Joe Ford of Lafayette County was directed to arrest the two persons and have them in the next session of court, scheduled for March 2, 1963.

The names of the indicted persons will not be released until they are arrested, under Mississippi law. Both are from outside Mississippi, according to Circuit Judge Walter M. O'Bar.

Therefore, the names could be released when the judge signs papers to extradite them to Mississippi, O'Bar said. Dist. Atty. Jesse Yancy Jr. would prepare the extradition papers.

O'Bar, a native of Mississippi, had charged the grand jury to indict anyone who helped incite the riot—including President Kennedy and his brother, Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy. However, O'Bar said that "neither the President nor the attorney general was named."

In a related development, the Justice Department in Washington announced it hoped to file papers in the criminal contempt cases against Gov. Ross Barnett and Lt. Gov. Paul B. Johnson Jr. shortly after Thanksgiving.

The 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals at New Orleans directed the Justice Department on Thursday to bring the criminal contempt charges. Both Barnett and Johnson have already been found guilty of civil contempt by the court for their parts in blocking Meredith's admission to Ole Miss, but no penalties have been imposed.

Criminal contempt is designed to punish persons for past defiance of court orders, while civil contempt proceedings are intended to bring about future compliance.

Edwin Guthman, Justice Department attorney, said the court would decide whether a jury or judges will hear the contempt charges.

At the same news conference, Guthman distributed a statement from Atty. Gen. Kennedy, in which he said: "I said shortly after the riot that Mr. McShane and the marshals acted with great bravery and restraint, and investigations since then by the FBI and reports by newsmen more than sustain that position."

No Evidence on Firing

A number of marshals received critical injuries in the rioting, which took two lives. But the grand jury said there was no evidence to show who fired the fatal shots at Paul Gubard, a French newspaperman, and Walter Ray Gunter, an Oxford, Miss. box repairman.

Monaco Accepts Bid To Resume Talks

MONTPELIER, Monaco (AP)—Monaco today accepted a French offer to resume negotiations on the two-way dispute between the two countries.

Negotiations broke down Oct. 12 on France's demands that this tiny principality levy taxes on some French corporations and private individuals, enjoying a tax haven here.

France has been enforcing her demands with mild economic pressure, including cursory customs checks.

Negotiations are expected to resume the last week in November.

Westport Murder Suspect, Woman Seized in Georgia

SOPERTON, Ga. (AP)—"I spotted him lying in the back of the truck and I knew him at once," Sheriff Joe C. Mullis said as he described the capture of a handyman wanted in the slaying of a Connecticut socialite and the abduction of her 14-year-old daughter.

"I hadn't seen him for four or five years but I don't forget faces," the sheriff said. He didn't give any trouble and the woman with him just stood there beside the car with the Connecticut tag.

The sheriff and agents of the Federal and Georgia Bureaus of Investigation said Haris Miller, 31, a Negro handyman, and his common-law wife, Rosalie Miller, 24, surrendered immediately.

The scene was the back yard of Mrs. Mary Miller, the fugitive's mother, the time just hours after funeral services were held in Westport, Conn., Friday for the slain Mrs. Isabel Sillan, civic and social leader.

Her husband and two sons were surrounded by friends. Her daughter, Gail, was at Norwalk Hospital under police guard.

The FBI said Miller was charged with unlawful flight to avoid prosecution for murder, kidnapping and rape, and the woman with unlawful flight to avoid prosecution for kidnapping.

The sheriff said both denied the charges.

One Painting Missing

PARIS (AP)—All but one of 56 valuable paintings stolen 16 months ago from an unguarded museum in a Riviera resort have been recovered.

Police, acting on an anonymous tip to Cultural Minister Andre Malraux, found the paintings Friday in a dilapidated, abandoned barn in Villiers-Saint-Georges, near Paris.

Thieves, who experts said had a discriminating taste, stole the paintings July 17, 1961, from the Annecle Museum, a converted chapel in the resort village of Ste. Tropez.

FBI Seizes Trio, Arms Cache for Pro-Fidel Group

WASHINGTON (AP)—The FBI announced today seizure of a cache of weapons and explosives equipment from pro-Castro Cubans.

Three persons, including a member of the Cuban mission to the United Nations, were arrested on charges including conspiracy to commit sabotage.

The seizure was made in New York.

FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover said those arrested were: Roberto Santiesteban Casanova, 27, a newly arrived attaché at the Cuban mission to the United Nations and Antonio Soreto, 22, and Jose Garcia Orellana, 42, both of New York City.

Other members of the Cuban mission to the United Nations named as involved in the conspiracy are Jose Gomez Abad, 21, and his wife, Elsa, 20. They have not yet been arrested.

A federal complaint filed by the FBI in New York City Friday alleges that they delivered incendiary devices and other explosive materials to Jose Garcia.

Hoover said Roberto Santiesteban had a fully loaded Mauser semiautomatic pistol on his person when he was arrested.

He violently resisted arrest and it was necessary for agents to subdue him. He additionally had secret explosive formulas in his possession which he tried to swallow at the time of apprehension, Hoover said. These were recovered by the FBI.

12-Sided Coin to Go

OTTAWA (AP)—Canada's 12-sided nickel is on the way out.

A proclamation in the Canada Gazette announced today that the Royal Canadian mint will return to production of the rounded five-cent nickel coin, effective Jan. 2.

The Canadian nickel has had 12 sides since 1943, when the government changed the composition of the coin to conserve nickel, a strategic wartime metal.

N.A. Parker, master of the mint, said the change is being made for two reasons—complaints that the 12-sided coin sticks in vending machines and "it's cheaper to make the round version."

Swims to Freedom

VIENNA, Austria (AP)—A 17-year-old Hungarian swam through the icy waters of the Danube River to seek political asylum in Austria, police reported today.

Laszlo Ziermann, a former engineering student at Budapest University, said that after crossing from Hungary into Czechoslovakia last Tuesday on a secret path leading through mine fields he waited until last Friday night hidden in a barn near the Czech-Austrian border and then plunged into the Danube River.

Why U. S. Is Uneasy Over Cuban Disarmament

Castro's 'Fishing Port' May Develop Into Base for Kremlin's Submarines

BY COL. RAY CROMLEY
Newspaper Enterprise
Military Analyst

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — Military men and diplomats are uneasy over the Cuban disarmament operation.

They worry because the Kennedy-Khrushchev agreement doesn't require Soviet "technicians" to stop work on their new Cuban "fishing port" which may become a Soviet submarine base.

Such a base would at one stroke convert Soviet Russia's submarine fleet—including her missile firing undersea squadrons—into a far more potent weapon off the American coasts.

Activity Points to Danger
The marked Red submarine activity during the U. S. blockade of Cuba has convinced these military men that Khrushchev feels strong need for such a base in Cuba.

Refugees report a submarine base is being constructed.

But U. S. military and diplomatic uneasiness over Cuban medium range and intermediate range missiles continues, too. This despite the thorough U. S. photographic coverage, in which American planes flying at less than 5,000 feet have photographed the day to day movement of the known missiles, their launchers, transporters, fuel trailers, oxidizer trailers, and erectors from the missile sites to ship decks.

U. S. authorities have reason to believe the Russians are shipping away the 42 medium range and intermediate range missiles known and counted. The Department of Defense has shown photographs of at least 18 of these canvassed covered missile shapes on ships sailing from Cuba. Presumably the U. S. has pictures of the rest.

Camouflage Possible
It is possible to fake a missile with the proper camouflage. Military men think this would be difficult as quickly as the Reds would have had to work under persistent daytime air reconnaissance.

What worries military men is this:
Are there other medium range and intermediate range missiles in Cuba which are so far undiscovered?

There have been reports from Cuban refugees that the Russians are hiding missiles in Cuban caves. Department of Defense must be presumed to be doing all in its power to check this out.

The homeward shipment of the IL-28 jet bombers could be traced the same way if the Soviet did, as the U. S. insists, send these 800-mile-radius bombers back to Russia.

But will the Soviet Union send them all home—or just those Khrushchev thinks we know about?

Thus far, the Soviet Union has not said it will remove the bombers. Cuba claims they are "Cuban property."

Inspection Must: U. S.
We continue to insist, too, that there must be inspection on the spot to determine if all offensive missiles, offensive bombers and their associated equipment is in fact removed. Castro Cuba has balked inspection.

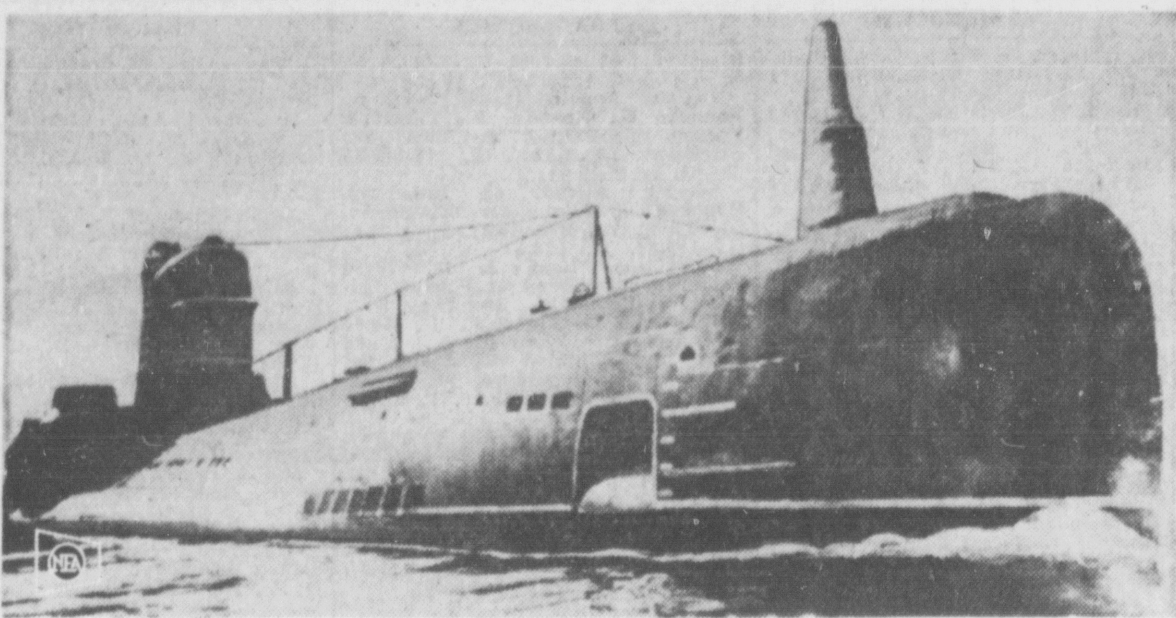

Military men believe that unless there is realistic spot inspection by experts there can be no assurance that the Russians have in deed removed all strategic offensive weapons.

What worries our officials even more is how can the United States be certain that once home, the Russians won't find a way to ship the missiles and planes back again at a later date, only with more secrecy.

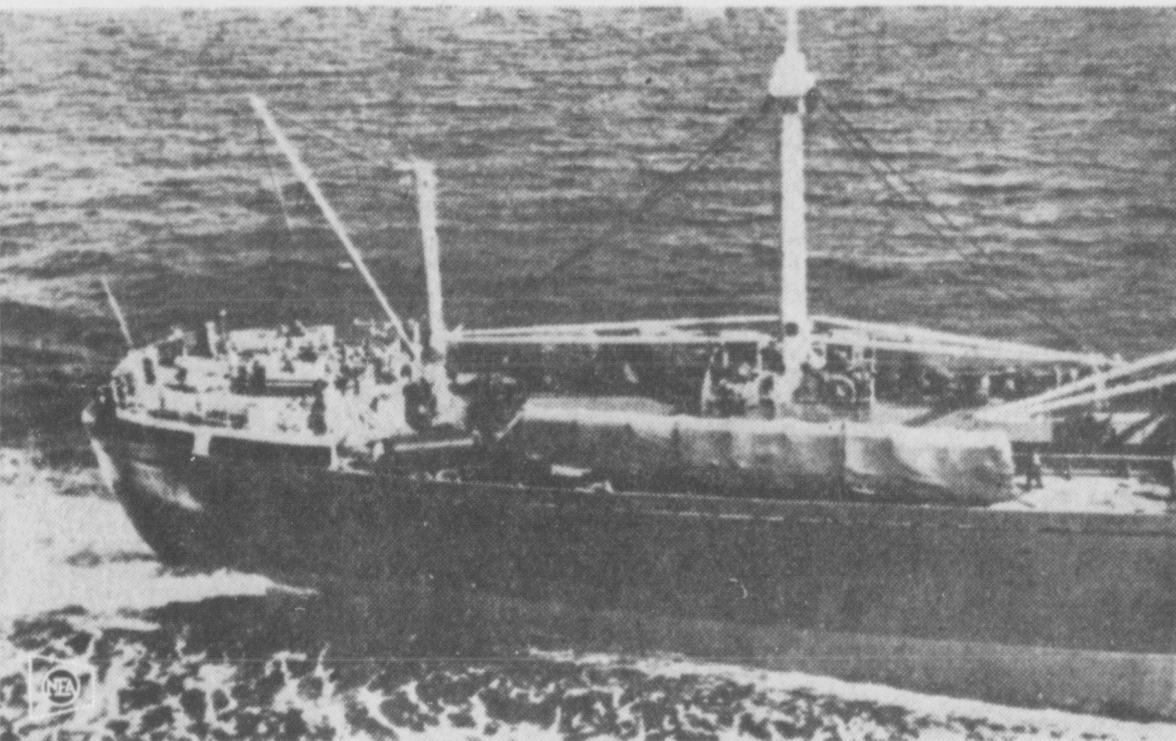

Favor Spot Check
Some Pentagon officials propose a continued on again, off again blockade—a spot air and sea check at irregular intervals of all ships coming to Cuba from Communist countries. Suspected ships would be boarded.

This would be combined with continued air surveillance to spot any new missile bases that might appear.

Thus far, however, it appears that no decision has been made by the Administration on what to do over the longer run.

CARIBBEAN "FISHING" BOAT?: Heavily retouched photo of what was described as rocket-firing Soviet submarine appeared in March 1962 issue of Red Star.

UNDER THE COVERS: U. S. believes Russian medium range missiles are under the canvas on deck of this Soviet vessel leaving Cuba.

Favor Proposal Relieving Kin of Over 65 Blame

NEW YORK (AP) — City officials have endorsed a proposed state legislative change that would relieve relatives of financial responsibility for persons over 65 who receive public medical care.

However, George R. Wyman, state social welfare commissioner, opposed such a change before a joint legislative committee hearing Friday attended by some 100 other persons.

The committee on health insurance plans had convened to hear suggestions made by the State Medical Society aimed at improving the medical-aid program for the aged.

One of the changes advocated was making the "means test"—for eligibility for public medical care—applicable only to the recipient and-or spouse. It presently makes not only the recipient and his spouse responsible for the recipient's support, but his parents, grandparents or children if they are able.

Testifying in favor of such a change were James R. Dumpsion, city welfare commissioner and Dr. George James, city health commissioner.

State Sen. George R. Metcalf, chairman of the committee, concluded the hearings, saying the state's law needs improvement. "The bill has been tried long enough and certain revisions should be made," he said.

Metcalf, an Auburn, N.Y., Republican, said medical society and state government officials and representatives of the committee would meet to revise the bill before the Legislature convenes in January.

The state law implements the Kerr-Mills Federal Medicare Act, which provides aid to states participating in the program of medical care for the aged.

SHOKAN—Out of town people here recently included Mr. and Mrs. George Munster, North Bergen, N. J.; Mr. and Mrs. John Walsh, West New York, N. J., and William Walsh of Brooklyn.

They were accompanied by Mrs. Max Inger, Ontario Manor, West Hurley. The Esopus Creek and west basin of the Ashokan were raised a few inches by the rains of last week. One of the big gates at the dividing weir was opened to allow the east basin to pick up a little, and there is now water in the 100-foot deep channel which last month was practically dry in spots. The channel was cut out of solid rock to expedite the flow of water to the lower end of the east basin.

Arlene Ezieckson, a regular summer and weekend visitor to Chichester was a Shokan caller Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Kelly, Inwood, L. I., were at their old state road place for the holiday. Theodore Peck, Kingston, was a local caller Sunday. The young man, who attended college in Pennsylvania, expects to leave soon for army service.

Trooper Francis Stein turned cowhand recently when a cattle truck and a car collided on Route 17 near the Sullivan-Delaware County line. The truck flopped over in the highway, freeing 12 bawling calves which had to be rounded up in a snowstorm.

Charles Terkelsen was numbered among West Oliveites here recently. His home is the former Nettie Van Buren place on Route 28A near Brodhead.

Having a birthday Nov. 21 is Virgil Winchell who now resides at West Hurley. Well known in the Kingston area as a musician, he was born in New York City, son of Virgil and Subrania Eckert Winchell, both of whom were natives of this section.

Mrs. Peter Crawford and Mrs. Fred Reiner, long time residents of the Olive Bridge area, were Shokan callers recently.

The biggest pine logs seen passing through the village in a long time are being trucked up the reservoir road and on up to a mountain sawmill. Some of these appear to be about 20 inches in diameter. On Route 28, the big trailer trucks, piled high with lumber, come down from the mountains at all hours. The industry which was big business way back in Civil War times, is still going strong in western Greene and Ulster Counties.

Floyd Longyear, a native of Shokan, writes that he likes it very much in Tucson, Ariz., where he located two years ago after living in Grand Rapids, Mich., for many years. The World War I veteran plans to make a trip to New Zealand about the first of the year.

Man and Nephew Are Indicted in Dad of 24 Death

MALONE, N. Y. (AP) — A 45-year-old man and his teen-aged nephew face trial on charges of first-degree murder in the shooting of the father of 24 children.

A Franklin County grand jury handed up indictments Friday against Morris J. Carson of North Lawrence and his nephew, Victor F. Otis Jr., 18, of Syracuse.

They were committed to Franklin County jail to await trial. No date was set.

Carson and Otis are accused of slaying Elmer Shotts, 71, of North Bangor, whose bullet-riddled body was found in a field about 15 miles from his home.

State Police said the three had been together in North Bangor Sept. 17, the day Shotts was killed.

Troopers said Otis told them he and Carson had taken Shotts' automobile, and then had shot him 12 or 13 times so "he wouldn't be able to identify us."

Carson and Otis were arrested the following day in Watertown. They were driving Shotts' car, police said.

Veterans' Rights, Benefits Listed

By: Charles Culver, State Veteran Counselor, NYS Division of Veterans Affairs, and John Tyler, Director, Ulster County Veterans Service Agency, 32 Main Street, Kingston, New York—Mon. thru Fri. 9-5. FE8-111.

Loans — Information recently released shows that the average veteran home buyer in 1961 was not quite 34 years old and that he paid about $14,315 for his home. Although the ages of veteran home buyers ranged from under 25 years to over 50, those in the 30-34 bracket bought 32 per cent of the homes purchased. With $14,315 as the average price paid for homes bought with the VA guaranteed loans, homes costing less than $12,000 accounted for 25 per cent of all purchased. The majority of homes bought, however, were either in the $12,000 to $14,000 bracket (34 per cent) or the $15,000 to $19,999 bracket (35 per cent).

Pensions: Many non-service connected veterans do not realize that their Social Security benefits are not considered income until the amount they receive equals the amount they paid in. Public Law 86-778, which removed the requirement that a disabled person had to be fifty years old in order to qualify for benefits, became effective on Oct. 1, 1960. This means that, in most cases, benefits received for the months of Oct. and Nov. of 1960 and most if not all benefits throughout 1961 were not reportable as income. Some non-service connected veterans may have reported this as income without considering their credit. In such cases, the VA naturally discontinued pensions when the questionnaires indicated that the veterans received more than the limited amount of income.

Questions about the rights and benefits of veterans, servicemen, or their dependents may be submitted for individual attention to Mr. Culver or Mr. Tyler at their office at 32 Main Street, Kingston, New York — Monday thru Friday 9 to 5. FE8-1111.

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) — Mrs. Willetta Swart, 33, of East Berne was struck by an automobile and killed Friday as she walked across Route 20 in suburban Guilderland. State Police said she had just gotten off a bus and was crossing the highway to her parked car.

Teener's Death Ruled Apparent Hit-Run Victim

WILKES-BARRE, Pa. (AP) —

A blonde, teenage girl, whose battered body was found Friday buried beneath tons of logs in the city dump at nearby Pittston, died of a punctured lung, an autopsy shows.

Police said the injury was among many probably suffered when she was struck by a hit-run car.

The girl was Netten Kundratik, 17, Inkermann, Jenkins Township, missing since she left the house of a neighbor to walk home a week ago.

Her body was found by Frank Botera, 67, and his son, Teddy, when they looked into a pile of brush and logs to investigate black and white checkered material which they saw underneath. The material was the girl's slacks.

Dr. Carlos Rodriguez, pathologist at Wilkes-Barre General Hospital, said the girl died of a punctured lung, pierced by several broken ribs.

He said the girl apparently was hit by an automobile. He said there was no evidence of sexual molestation, and it appears from the stomach contents she was killed the night she disappeared—Friday, Nov. 9.

XB70 Delay No Setback, Air Force Says

WASHINGTON (AP)—Air Force officers refused today to regard a three-month delay in the first flight of the 2,000-mile-an-hour XB70 airplane as a serious setback for the controversial project.

They said the Air Force expects little difficulty in solving the fuel tank problem that caused the delay from December to March or April.

The plane is known as the XB70 in its experimental form. As a reconnaissance - strike plane it would bear the designation RS70.

In a terse announcement late Thursday, the Air Force said the pioneer flight of the revolutionary plane has been rescheduled "because of problems encountered in satisfactorily sealing fuel cells of the aircraft, which will be subjected to the high temperature of sound."

Generated at three times the speed of sound, the problem involved leakage of volatile jet fuel from the plane's tanks and concern that such leakage could cause fire or explosion in flight. At 2,000 miles an hour, the temperature on the plane's surface would reach 600 degrees Fahrenheit.

Officials said the delay was ordered to be extra careful that nothing goes wrong with the critical first flight of the plane, which the Air Force wants to build as a reconnaissance-strike bomber.

Education Board Selects Kingston Man as Architect

At a special meeting, held Wednesday night the Board of Education, with all members present, voted to ask Albert E. Milliken, architect of Kingston, whether he is interested in becoming the architect for the Saugerties Central Schools district, in the planning of buildings for the next proposed bond issue. If Mr. Milliken's answer is positive, the board plans to meet with him in the near future to discuss details.

The board devoted considerable time, during the evening, to a further narrowing down of candidates for the office of superintendent of schools, to be assumed Feb. 1, 1963. The board plans, in the near future, to interview a very small number of candidates.

Local Sodality Hears Speaker

At the regular meeting of St. Mary's Sodality of Our Lady held Tuesday, it was announced that there would be an open house held in the church at the next meeting, Dec. 11. This will be at 7:30 p. m. for all the women of the parish. The purpose of the program is to acquaint the women with the church, the sacred vessels and vestments.

A Christmas party will follow in the school cafeteria. Gifts will be exchanged.

The Rev. Joseph Hamilton introduced the speaker of the evening, Miss Mary DiFonzo, executive secretary of the Archdiocesan Federation of Sodalties. She spoke on the history of the Sodalties of Our Lady, now approaching the 400th year of consecration to Mary, the Mother of God. She told of world Sodalties and how the Sodality's pin could be recognized anywhere in the world and greeted with warmth and courtesy by fellow Sodalties.

After the meeting, during serving of refreshments, the members and guests greeted Miss DiFonzo informally and talked to her about her travels abroad doing Sodality work and her work with the CYO Federation.

Columbiettes Set Holiday Events

The Saugerties Council Columbiettes 4536, met at the Knights of Columbus Building Wednesday evening for its regular monthly meeting and discussed plans for many events scheduled for the coming weeks. Lillian Conte, president, presided.

The Fourth Degree Assembly, Knights of Columbus, will hold its dinner and dance at the Flamingo Restaurant Saturday evening.

Other activities announced were: Dec. 1, Chapter meeting at Suffern which all Major Degree members may attend. Dec. 8, Knights of Columbus will hold an old fashioned military whist card party at the K of C Home 11 p. m. A buffet style supper will be available during the evening.

Following the next regular meeting of the organization Dec. 12 a Christmas party will be held. Members of the K of C will serve. Those attending will bring an exchange gift and a novelty gift.

The annual K of C Christmas party for children of members up to the age of ten years will be held Dec. 16 at the clubhouse.

Other reports made include notice that the Columbiettes will sponsor a retreat for all teenagers, boys and girls, from seventh grade up through high school in the Saugerties Central School system. Details will be announced.

Membership chairman Betty Buck announced that two applications have been received and four more anticipated.

Laura Buono, chairman of Catholic Action, received a thank you note from Maryknoll for money donated each month to the Rev. James McCloskey, MM, of Bolivia.

Trading stamps of all kinds are still needed to contribute towards the chapel at the Eastern Correctional Institution at Nanuet. Members will bring them to the next meeting.

Additional drivers are needed to help convey children to the Cerebral Palsy Clinic, Kingston, Mondays of each week. The more volunteers the less each one will be called upon to assist. Ann Vozdik is chairman of this project.

Religious education classes are being conducted at St. John's Hall, Veteran, each Thursday evening by Mrs. Savage, a teacher of religious education. Anyone interested in these teaching courses may attend the 8 p. m. sessions.

Leadership groups will be set up in January consisting of ten to 12 women. These groups will meet one night a week for seven weeks. The meeting will last one hour to one and a half hours.

If enough interest is shown the Columbiettes will sponsor a bus trip Dec. 1. Mrs. William Dobbin will accept reservations and give details.

The K of C has extended an invitation to the Columbiettes to bowl with them Thursdays at the Plaza Bowlerama at 7:30 p. m.

Recess Schedule

The Saugerties Central Schools will close, according to a special schedule Wednesday, Nov. 21, for the Thanksgiving recess. The schedule is as follows:

All kindergartens, second, third, and fourth grades on split session will come in at the regular time and go out at the regular time.

All sessions will start at the regular time. Dismissal will be as follows:

Main Street School—Grades 1, 5, 6, and ungraded—12:30 p. m.; North Flatbush School, 12 noon; Malden School, 12:35 p. m.; Katsbaan School, 12:05 p. m.; Glasco School, Grades 1, 5, and 6, 12:15 p. m.; Mt. Marion School, Grades 1, 5, and 6, 12 noon; High School, Grades 8 through 12, 12:30 p. m.; Grade 7—1:15 p. m.

Special Meeting On School Plans Slated Nov. 27

All residents in the Saugerties Central Schools District who are interested in the problem of providing adequate classroom space for the boys and girls of the community, are urged by the Board of Education, to attend the meeting at the high school, Washington Avenue Extension, Tuesday, Nov. 27, 8 p. m.

The purpose of the meeting is to give opportunity to anyone who wishes to express his views on what the district should do to provide adequate classroom space.

The board, in its discussions, has clearly said that it acknowledges its responsibility for submitting plans to the voters to take care of building needs. But before these plans are formulated by the board, members welcome any and all suggestions, in order that they may have these thoughts in mind when formulating their plans.

The failure of three proposed bond issues to receive adequate support, indicates to the board that there are people in the district who may have ideas that they would like to submit before another bond issue proposal is placed before the voters.

The board assumes that almost everyone in the district knows that there are currently more than 700 of its boys and girls in the grades who are attending on an abbreviated schedule. It is the belief of the board that the number of elementary boys and girls who will be on an abbreviated schedule next fall, will be in excess of one thousand; and that an additional 400 boys and girls in the seventh and eighth grades, the junior high school, will have to be placed on an abbreviated schedule.

A THEATER PARTY

Q: I will be celebrating my 18th birthday soon and instead of having a regular birthday party, my mother said that I could have a theater party this year. I am pleased with the idea but never having given a theater party before I don't know how to go about it. Will you please help me with the details?

A: First of all your mother (and you) decide on the number to be invited. Then buy the tickets for whichever evening you can get the number and location that you want. Invitations could either be telephoned or short notes written. When you have received all of your replies, plan the seating of your guests so that those who like each other will be seated together. Then a day or two before the party, mail the right ticket to each girl and to each boy along with a card on which you write, "Please be in the lobby of the Apollo Theater at 8:15." On the evening of the theater you stand in the lobby to receive your guests. As soon as several of them arrive they are sent into the theater. Each gives her (or his) ticket to the usher who shows each to her (or his) seat. When the last guest has arrived you go to your own seat.

Returning a Fraternity Pin
Q: Up until a few months ago I had been seeing a young man who is a senior at college. During our courtship he gave me his fraternity pin. May I keep the pin or must it be returned to him?

A: The sentiment of a fraternity pin is very much the same as an engagement ring. Most certainly you should return it.

Position of Knife
Q: When laying the knife down after cutting a piece of meat, is the entire knife placed on the plate, or is it put down with the blade part on the plate and the handle resting on the table?

A: The entire knife is placed on the plate.

Former Director of Religious Education at Old Dutch Church Here Weds Carl V. Hays

MRS. CARL V. HAYS

Miss Blanche M. Wagg, former Director of Religious Education at Old Dutch Church in Kingston, exchanged marriage vows with Carl V. Hays, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Hays of Enid, Okla., in a candlelight service on November 3 at the Huse Memorial Chapel, Nasson College, Springville, Maine.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Lawrence E. Wagg of Portland, Maine, and has been Christian education director at the First Reformed Church, Schenectady.

Mr. Hays is an engineer with the automotive hospital division of General Motors in Milwaukee, Wis.

Given in marriage by her brother-in-law, John E. Webb Jr., of Sanford, the bride wore an azure blue cocktail dress with matching headpiece and carried a bouquet of white mums.

Attendants were Mrs. John E. Webb Jr., as matron of honor, and Gustopher Root of Schenectady, best man. Edward L. Parsons Jr., and Timothy J. Parsons, cousins of the bride, were ushers. P. Gazley of Kingston was organist.

A reception was given afterwards at the Sanford Town Club.

Mrs. Hays attended Bates College and was graduated from Gordon College, Beverly Farms, Mass. Her husband received his BS and MS degrees from Oklahoma State University and a degree in meteorology from Pennsylvania State College.

After a month's cruise in the Caribbean, the couple will reside in Milwaukee.

After Bank Try

Judge Assured Woman to Get Medical Care

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Mrs. Elaine Mears of Flushing, N.Y., was free in $3,000 bail today charged with trying to hold up a branch of the Central Penn National Bank.

The 23-year-old brunette was released Friday night at a hearing before U.S. Commissioner Edward Furia.

Bail was granted, Furia said, because the woman's father, Joseph Murphy, Jamaica, N.Y., and her husband assured him she would receive medical care.

"I think she is very sick," Furia told Murphy. "Unfortunately there is no place in this city for a girl like your daughter, save for a prison with hardened criminals."

Police said the woman walked into the North Broad Street branch of the bank Friday and handed a teller a note demanding money. She fled when the teller called out to a receptionist "she wants my money."

Bank employees grabbed Mrs. Mears a few yards from the door. FBI agents quoted Mrs. Mears as saying she wanted to get caught because "I've been causing people a lot of trouble and nobody wanted anything to do with me."

'Ham Actors'

The expression "ham actors" to designate actors of poor quality started with minstrel shows when ham fat was used for cleaning the blackening off actors' faces. Many of the minstrel shows were of poor quality and gave rise to the term "ham actor."

GIRL'S BEST FRIEND—Historic diamond necklace that had been the gift of Napoleon I to his wife, the Empress Marie-Louise, has been presented to the Smithsonian Institution. Total weight of the diamonds is about 275 carats.

Home Extension Service News

Phyllis W. Barlow, county home demonstration agent, submits the following article on clothes dryers:

If you are planning the purchase of a clothes dryer or already own one, there are a few points to remember: Eight pounds of dry clothes become 12 to 18 pounds when wet (the amount of water your washer extracts from the clothes determines this).

There is little difference in drying time between gas and electric dryers. The amount of water extracted from the clothes determines the drying time. A load of bath towels will take longer to dry than a load of rayons.

Be sure the drum is wiped clean before using as dirt and grease may settle on clothes.

Sort clothes for washing and drying at one time in one operation. Similar fabrics require the same drying time and temperature.

Do not overload; overloading slows the action by not allowing clothes sufficient tumbling time. Always allow the manufacturer's suggested temperature settings if the dryer has a temperature selection control.

Do not overdry; linens become limp, synthetic fabrics have more static electricity; wrinkles set in all fabrics.

Dry starched clothes with other starched clothes. Nylon or dacron curtains dried with terry towels will remain crisp and fluffy.

In drying cotton knits remove from the dryer before they are dry, or buy a larger size.

Return clothes from the dryer as soon as it turns off. The dryer blows wrinkles but they can return if left in the heat.

Use the top of the dryer as a folding and smoothing surface. The heat of the dryer aids in smoothing the clothes.

Check and clean lint tray frequently. Most of the lint was formed before drying. Lint is blown away on the line drying while in automatic drying it settles in the lint trap.

Location of your dryer depends on a number of different factors—whether the home is new, remodeled or old; extent of available space; size and habits of family; not to mention particular preferences of the homemaker herself who uses the equipment in most instances.

Some excellent locations include: Kitchen laundries, bathroom laundries, basement laundries, first floor utility room laundries.

Use your dryer for all it's worth. It saves you much time and energy and also saves your clothes if you use it properly. Using the points listed above to best advantage, can protect clothes from all the hazards of line drying—sunfading, soot, rain, wind, birds and children at play.

Use it for pillows—Feather pillows will fluff dry so you could swear that they were fresh from the factory.

Dry out snow and rain togs—When your youngsters troop in happy but wet, flip their garments in the dryer.

Use it for washable toys—When the children's stuffed toys have been dragged through the local coal yard, scrub them clean and dry them in your dryer. They'll look as good as new.

The fatal accident was reported at 9:28 on Wilbur Avenue near South Wall Street, Oct. 5 when Gilbert Pigeon, 28, of Hewitt Place, suffered fatal injuries.

Five pedestrians were reported in mishaps and 12 were hurt in collisions of two or more vehicles. Three were hurt in mishaps involving fixed objects, and one mishap involved a bicycle.

Of the arrests, 60 were for violations of the city traffic code, 42 for vehicle and traffic infractions, 21 for public intoxication, 12 for third degree, assault, two for second degree assault, and two for third degree burglary. Two arrests each were made, on fraudulent check charges, trespassing on railroad property, first degree rape, sodomy, possession of fireworks, and for failure to appear in court.

Of those arrested, 53 paid fines, nine were committed to jail, and 21 received suspended sentences. Five cases were referred to grand juries, nine were discharged and 18 cases are pending.

Catholics Seek Compromise for Theological Idea

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Steps were taken in the Roman Catholic Ecumenical Council today to compromise a major split over a theological issue considered crucial to efforts for Christian unity.

The dispute, over a thesis on the sources of divine revelation, had brought so-called conservative and progressive elements in the council into direct conflict.

But in today's closed meeting in St. Peter's, a spokesman said, proposals were made to create a study group composed of council fathers of the two tendencies to find a point of agreement that would take into account the different views heard in the past two council sessions.

The thesis, which deals with scriptures and tradition as sources of the revealed word of God, was drafted by a commission headed by Alfredo Cardinal Ottaviani, considered a leading conservative.

When it first came up, some council fathers supported it. Others suggested that it be shelved. A third group wanted an entirely new text.

The three views appeared to have narrowed to two today. There was no sign of further re-

Reiner No 2nd Banana Anymore

AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Onetime second banana Carl Reiner was asked on an interview telecast a couple of years ago why he hadn't become a star, like Art Carney and others.

"What a wonderful idea!" said Reiner with mock surprise. "I think I will!"

He has now become the kind of a star that would cause some top bananas to envy.

His recent achievements have included: Producing and writing "The Dick Van Dyke Show" on television; playing Cameo roles in that film and "It's a Mad (4) World"; creating with Mel Brooks two wild and successful record albums based on "The 2,000-Year-Old Man."

He is earning more money and creative satisfaction than he ever did as Sid Caesar's sidekick.

"But you've got to keep things in perspective," he said modestly. "A guy is considered a genius in this business for what? For being able to create a very special kind of material in a very small portion of the whole business."

"The Dick Van Dyke Show" came out of a pilot show that Reiner once made with Barbara Britton. Nobody bought, but Sheldon Leonard of the Danny Thomas production team saw its possibilities. He suggested that Reiner write and produce it for Van Dyke. Reiner had qualms, since he had never produced.

The Van Dyke outing had a rough first season, but Reiner reports jubilantly that it has landed in the top 15 in ratings this fall.

How to Limit Service Calls

By MR. FIX
Written for Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Appliance service calls are expensive. It's a wise homeowner who keeps them down to a minimum.

While you may not be able to handle complicated repairs, you can carry on a program of maintenance that will prevent major trouble.

Is the appliance plugged in? Silly as it seems the trouble may be nothing more than a disconnected cord.

If it is, is there power? An inexpensive neon tester, or a home made tester consisting of a pigtail socket and a light bulb will tell you. If the tester lights the trouble is with the appliance.

No Light
If it fails to light, check the fuse for that circuit. If it is blown out, replacing it will solve your problems. But before you replace the fuse, try to figure out why the fuse blew out.

Too many lights or appliances plugged into the same circuit will cause an overload. Try disconnecting a few.

If there is power, the plug may be loose. Wiggling the plug in the outlet may make the appliance go off and on. Try spreading the prongs for a tighter fit.

If the appliance remains plugged in permanently—such as a refrigerator—clean the prongs of the plugs now and then. Steel wool will remove the coating of oxidation.

Check Cord
Check the cord for frayed spots or breaks. If moving or bending the cord causes the appliance to go on and off, then there is a short in the cord. Replace the cord, making certain that you use the same type.

Make certain that the cord is properly connected to the appliance. "With vacuum cleaners especially there is a tendency for cords to become loose or frayed at the connection."

Some appliances, such as an electric percolator, have their own fuses. Locate this fuse and check it.

Brush Trouble
Universal motors, the type found in mixers and vacuum cleaners, have brush trouble now and then. These brushes are pieces of carbon mounted on springs.

Removing small, slotted plastic plugs will give access to the brushes. If the carbon brushes are worn down close to the spring, replace them with brushes of the same type.

Regular care will do much to prevent parts from wearing out and will make appliances run efficiently.

Oil motors regularly. If the oil cup has felt at the base, make certain that it is kept moist with oil, not wet. Check all oiling points on appliances every time you lubricate.

Keep Clean

Keep appliances clean. Empty vacuum cleaner bags. Clean crumbs out of the electric toaster. (But never immerse toaster in water.)

Do not overload washing machines. Leaks may be nothing more than loose hose connections at the water inlet. And be sure to check filter traps on dryers. Take down the vent pipe and clean out accumulated lint now and then.

Today's Home-Buyers

Want 'Bonus' Features

Now that there is an adequate supply of houses available for purchase, home-buyers have become increasingly choosier and now seek "bonus" features, comments the Institute of Home Designers. A few years ago, when home-builders could sell almost any house they erected, a large number were built on concrete slabs, the Institute says. But now all but the most inexpensive homes in the north are erected with basements, because home buyers have come to realize that basement space offers some of the most desirable space in the house and can be provided at a fraction of the cost of equivalent space above ground.

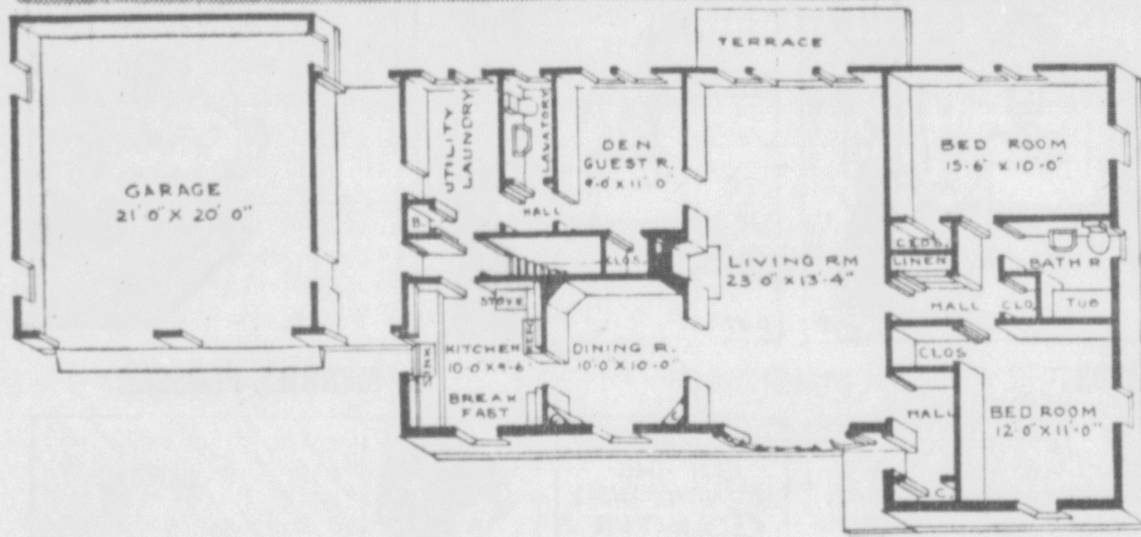

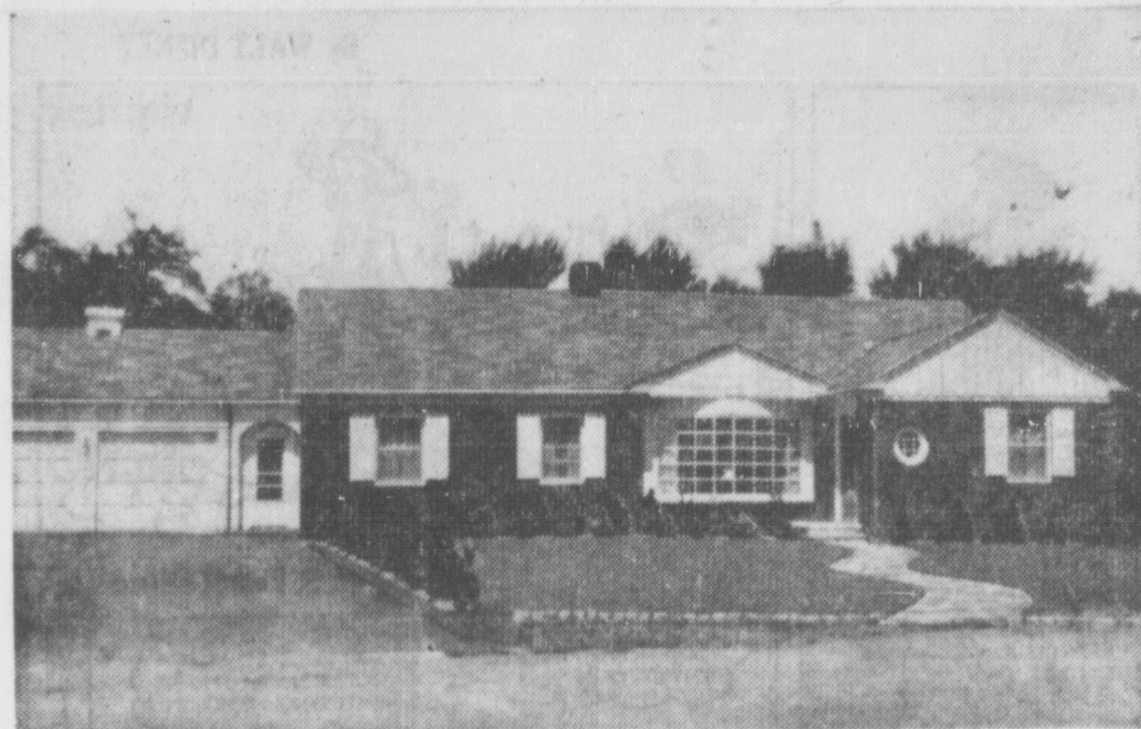

All Purpose

Douglas fir is a contradiction of values. It is one of the nation's busiest and most widely used construction lumbars and it provides some of the most beautiful finish lumber, a rare combination in one tree.

'The Aldred' Is Charming Home Inside and Out

Rooms Six
Bedrooms Three
Garage 3,800 ft.
Closets Six
Cubage House 27,600 ft.
Dimensions 51' x 25'

Many a prospective home builder will be charmed by the exterior appearance of "The Aldred," today's Home of the Week. And, if these same prospective builders are looking for an interior layout in which good-sized rooms are arranged for comfort, convenience and ease of maintenance, they'll be equally delighted by the inside of this house.

At least a 100-foot lot will be required to build "The Aldred" because, while the house proper measures but 51 by 25 feet, the total length, including the attached garage, is 78 feet. Cubage of the house itself is 27,600 feet; cubage of the garage is 3,800 feet.

Exterior
You can use any type of finish for the attractive exterior of the house. In the accompanying illustration, brick is used on the house proper, while shingles cover the garage. Painting the garage white to match the white convenient storage places for your tableware.

Closets
Inclusion of both a regular bathroom and a lavatory is another example of the careful planning used throughout. So also are the seven conveniently located closets.

With the laundry located in the house proper only the heating plant must be installed in the basement; this should be placed under the living room.

Blueprints Available
Complete plans and specifica-

trim and blinds on the house is an effective combination. An added touch of color and brightness can be given to the house exterior by multi-colored roofing.

Both inside and out, the picture window bay in the living room is the most distinctive decorative detail of "The Aldred." To this window area, the spacious living room owes much of its appeal—including its cheerful, well-lighted appearance. Plan your living room decorative scheme around the picture window bay, taking into consideration the fireplace in the left wall and the French door and two windows looking out on the back terrace.

Bedrooms
Two regular bedrooms are located in the right wing. If you need a third bedroom, however, the room specified as the den or guest room can serve your purpose very nicely.

Although the kitchen is rather small, it does contain enough space for a cozy breakfast nook. The dining room proper is so conveniently near to the kitchen that you'll easily be able to serve your family's meals there. You'll find the china closets built into the front corner of the room,

'Iron Curtain' May Save Your Trees

As winter turns on its most frigid blasts, you may have to choose between your trees and rabbits and ground squirrels. These creatures, plus meadow mice, will eat the bark of trees and buds and twigs of shrubs, even if other food is available. You might say they are compulsive wood eaters.

If your trees or shrubs are endangered, build "iron curtains" around the trunks with wire screening or other hardware. Animal repellents are another deterrent.

tions for this house and all other "Home of the Week" designs are available at moderate cost.

It is perfectly proper to take advantage of your opponents' mannerisms, but you do so at your peril.

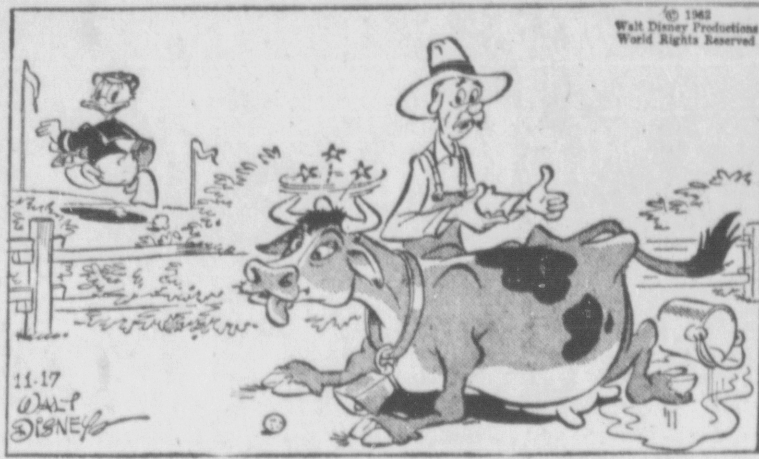

Today's hand is the contribution of our British cousins. The problem is to find South's best line of play against opponents he has never seen before.

South has to win all three heart tricks in order to make seven no-trump contract and according to the British author his correct play is to win the first club in his own hand, pause a few seconds and lead the jack of spades. He should study West's reaction for future reference. Then he should go up with dummy's ace, return to his own hand with another club and lead the jack of hearts. Should West play low in the same manner he should rise with dummy's ace and play East for the queen. Should West react differently, he should finesse against him immediately.

Watch Your Manners When on the Phone

The other day Jessica Ridion brought a new friend home from high school and introduced her to her mother. Mrs. Ridion made hot cocoa and brought out a plate of her famous date bars, and the three of them spent a very pleasant hour in front of the open fire. After their guest had gone, Mrs. Ridion said, "So that was Robin."

"Yes, mother, that was Robin," Jessica answered proudly. "And isn't she darling? Do you wonder that she has become the most popular girl in school in the few months she has lived here?"

"She certainly is charming," her mother replied, with enough enthusiasm in her voice to satisfy even Jessica. "But do you know, Jess, I was very pleasantly surprised in your new friend. I had gotten such a different idea of her because of her phone manners."

"Phone manners, mother. What in the world are phone manners?"

"Call it phone courtesy, if you prefer. You know Robin calls you often and she always shouts so it is sometimes difficult to understand her. And she is so brusque over the phone. She will never leave her name. 'Oh, never mind,' she says. 'It's no matter.' You'd think I was the telephone girl. She never says good morning, or even good-by. Never asks how I am. Then when she does get you, you talk so long, no one else can possibly get the line, no matter how important it may be."

There are a lot of girls today like Jessica's friend Robin. If you were to leaf through the pages of a very old book of etiquette, you would never find any rules for the correct usage of the telephone, but you would find plenty of old-fashioned maxims about courtesy and thoughtfulness that might very easily be applied to this more modern development of communication. It is surprising how many of us who have a reputation for charming manners forget this code completely once we pick up a receiver.

There are some people that we know only over the telephone, and they judge us by our voices. Therefore it's up to us to try and develop a pleasant speaking voice and not to have to waste time in useless repetition.

If the operator gives you a wrong number, common courtesy demands an apology from you, even though it is not your fault. You should say, "I'm sorry," or "I beg your pardon, I have the wrong number," instead of "Hang up, won't you."

The very fact that they are not face to face with the person seems to give them freedom to be rude. And there is no reason to snarl at the person who has been given your number by mistake. Just say "I'm sorry, but you have the wrong number."

A good slogan might be, "When you are minding your P's and Q's, Mind your phone manners too."

'First a Word From Our Sponsor' It's That Same Old, Old Story

"To rent. From the first day of next July, shops with flowers over them; finer upper chambers and a house in the Arius Pollio block, owned by Gnaeus Marius."

"A copper pot has been taken from this shop. Whoever brings it back will receive 65 sesterces. If anyone shall hand over the thief he will receive an additional reward."

With a few alterations you might think these advertisements were taken from the want ad columns of this newspaper. Actually they are translations of advertisements found in the ruins of Pompeii, which was destroyed by a volcano 19 centuries ago.

They were not printed in a newspaper, however, as this was long before the invention of movable type made newspapers possible.

Advertising in those days was by word of mouth or by hand lettered placards and signs. Public criers who went about the town crying the news and proclamations of the rulers interspersed advertisements of merchants. So the "commercials" you hear on television and radio are really nothing new.

The British museum has a bit of papyrus 3,000 years old seeking the return of a runaway slave. How long before that the first written advertisement was used can never be known. And spoken advertising undoubtedly is far older.

It is within the last century that advertising has made its greatest growth. Today advertising is an important part of your newspaper.

No doubt your mother, like most other women, before she goes shopping for groceries consults the advertisements for the best buys in food. And advertisements are helpful in choosing new clothes, home furnishings or whatever may be needed.

Although billions are spent for advertising, its elimination would not lower the cost of goods. A soap company may spend millions in advertising, yet the cost per cake of soap is just a tiny fraction of a cent, while increased sales due to advertising lower the cost of manufacturing and distributing.

Only through advertising can new products be introduced to the public in a short time. And thus advertising contributes to a more comfortable and a more pleasurable living for everyone.

Joan Fairina, Virginia Powell and Linda Cooper of Los Angeles, Calif., council of Girl Scouts aren't members of the United States Navy, but they rubbed shoulders with sailors during some of their activities. They did this when they stacked bagged clothing aboard USS Excel before its sailing to the Orient.

The explanation is that they are Mariner Girl Scouts. They feel proud when they have reached the rating of "Old Salt." Their camp is not in the woods, mountains or similar places that usually serve as retreats for Girl Scouts. It is located where the waters of the Pacific slap the shores. It is Camp Catalina at White's Landing on Catalina Island. The crystal clear water and wide stretch of sandy beach here invite the girl who is especially interested in waterfront skills.

The program provides instruction for the young scout who wants to learn to swim. Classes also are held for advanced swimmers and lifesaving know-how. Experienced campers may qualify for canoe trips, skin-diving and water skiing.

But all girls enjoy swimming, sailing, water carnivals and beach parties. Other exciting experiences include cook-outs and sleep-outs, exploring and hiking through the island and sitting with friends at the evening camp fire. The wide beach at Catalina is an open invitation to learning how to prepare the traditional Hawaiian luau feast.

The Scouts reach Catalina Island by chaperoned, chartered boat. Baggage consists of only duffel bags, 40 pound limit. Small cosmetic cases may be carried on the craft. Suitcases and trunks are not acceptable. There are no visiting days because the camp site is on an island and not easily accessible. It's almost like living in the manner of Robinson Crusoe.

That Long Trip to School

The trip to school can seem a long, long way some of these beautiful autumn mornings! Billy finds it very difficult to find his way to school. See if you can do better!

Beware! This puzzle is trickier than it looks at first glance. Yes, all you have to do to find your way to school is to follow the road with a pencil. BUT! You cannot look at your paper directly, but just at the picture as it is reflected in a mirror, as demonstrated in sketch below it.

Hold a paper between your eyes and this one so that you can only see the picture in the mirror, then try to follow the path with a pencil. It won't be easy!

Oklahoma, Missouri Winner May Get Orange Bowl Berth

Clubs to Collide Today in Feature Grid Attraction

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

Sometime after nightfall tonight either coar' Dan Devine of Missouri or Oklahoma's Bud Wilkinson can start practicing his acceptance speech for a trip to the Orange Bowl.

Their teams clash today with the winner almost certain to get the trip to Florida, although each has further Big Eight activity on the schedule.

The game between unbeaten but once-tied Missouri and the on-rushing Sooners, 5-2 and winner of four straight, tops a national college football schedule that should go a long way toward clearing up the bowl picture. Acceptances cannot be made until Dec. 1.

Missouri, ranked sixth in the nation and tied only by Minnesota, has a 5-0 conference record with a game against Kansas remaining.

The Sooners, who lost two of their first three, have rolled over their last four opponents by a combined score of 163-7. The Sooners have games remaining with Nebraska and Oklahoma State but the winner of the Oklahoma-Missouri match will have the inside track to the Orange Bowl.

Things are a little less certain for the other major bowls, the Rose, Cotton and Sugar, although Southern California is all but a sure thing for the host spot in the Rose.

Seek Rose Bowl Berth

The unbeaten Trojans, ranked second in the nation on a 7-0 record, have secured at least a tie for the Big Six title, which also includes the Rose Bowl berth. The Trojans go against Navy today and close conference play against UCLA next week.

The visiting spot for the Rose festival was still very much up in the air going into today's games, with Wisconsin, Northwestern and Purdue in the running.

Purdue (3-1) faces Minnesota, tied for the Big Ten lead and ranked eighth in the country but ineligible for the postseason because of two consecutive appearances in the Rose Bowl.

Northwestern, ranked ninth in the country, tests Michigan State while fourth-ranked Wisconsin (6-1) plays Illinois. Wisconsin seems to have the inside track for the bowl berth since it plays seven conference games, Northwestern and Purdue only six.

Alabama, defending national champion and again No. 1 with an 8-0 record, visits Georgia Tech, possibly one of the toughest foes on the 'Bama schedule. Alabama, virtually assured of either an Orange or Sugar Bowl spot, has a stern defense to present against twice-beaten Tech.

Mississippi, unbeaten in seven, ranked third and also gunning for a spot in one of the major bowls, faces a so-so Tennessee team.

Texas, No. 4 and 7-0 for the year, is leading the Southwest Conference race and the struggle for the host spot in the Cotton Bowl. The Longhorns have Texas A&M to face after today's match with troublesome Texas Christian.

Arkansas, seventh ranked and beaten only by Texas in eight games, is the most likely to succeed should Texas falter and is a likely candidate for another bowl spot should the Longhorns continue their drive.

Louisiana State, No. 10, has a night game scheduled with Mississippi State.

Clay-Patterson Bout Seen Likely in the Near Future

By ED CORRIGAN

NEW YORK (AP)—Cassius Clay, the hottest prospect and fastest talker in the heavyweight division, appeared today to be in for a disappointment if he hopes to rush into a title fight with champion Sonny Liston.

Floyd Patterson, Billy Daniels, Zora Foley, Doug Jones, Eddie Machen, and even Ingemar Johansson were names being bandied about as possible opponents.

But not Liston.

Clay proved himself a valuable piece of property Thursday night when he stopped ancient Archie Moore in the fourth round of their scheduled 12-rounder at Los Angeles.

If Liston will go for it, Clay could wind up in the ring against Patterson in Madison Square Garden in January. Liston would have to okay the bout because he and Patterson have a return bout contract. Sonny demolished Patterson in the first round of their championship bout in Chicago last Sept. 25.

Harry Markson, general manager of the Madison Square Garden Boxing Club, would like to put on a Clay-Patterson bout, with the winner to meet Liston for the crown in the Yankee Stadium in June.

"I know Patterson has a return bout contract with Liston," said Markson. "But I'm sure Floyd realizes that because of his first

Emerson Wins Title

ADELAIDE (AP)—Roy Emerson won his fourth South Australian men's tennis title today when he defeated 18-year-old John Newcombe 6-4, 6-4, 6-2.

He added that he was certain Liston would prefer to defend against the Clay-Patterson winner, rather than take on Patterson again untested. He also pointed out that the whole thing could be taken care of with a new contract.

"Neither Patterson nor Liston has had time to digest the idea, Liston still is unlicensed to fight in New York because of his police record."

Syndicate Purchases Braves for 5 Million

By DAVE O'HARA
Associated Press Sports Writer

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP)—A syndicate of six young Midwest business executives and Milwaukee Braves president John McHale assumed the job of rebuilding the club's sagging fortunes today after purchasing control of the National League entry from longtime owner Lou Perini.

Perini, a 59-year-old construction magnate with headquarters near the Braves' old home in Boston, announced sale of 90 per cent of the club's assets for $5.5 million Friday.

Perini, who started the baseball world by moving the Braves to Milwaukee shortly before the start of the 1953 season, surprised most observers with his announcement at a hastily called news conference.

Rather than break away from the game entirely, however, Perini said that his corporation would retain a 10 per cent interest in the club. He will remain as chairman of the executive committee and as a member of the board of directors.

The syndicate of new owners is headed by two former directors of the Chicago White Sox, William C. Bartholomay, 34, of Lake Forest, Ill., and Lake Geneva, Wis., and Thomas A. Reynolds Jr., 34, of Northfield, Ill. Bartholomay is a Chicago insurance broker and Reynolds is a partner in a Chicago business firm.

To Remain as Head

McHale, 41, Perini's choice to become general manager in 1959 and then to assume the additional responsibility of president last year, will remain in both positions as well as being a co-owner.

Other members of the new group are John J. Louis Jr., 37, of Phoenix, Ariz., and Cable, Wis.; Daniel C. Searle, 36, a Winnetka, Ill., business executive; James B. McCahey Jr., 41, a fuel company executive from Evanston, Ill.; and Delbert W. Coleman, 36, of Winnetka, a prominent investment executive.

The new owners assume control at a time when the Braves' fortunes are at their lowest ebb since their final season in Boston in 1952. They drew more than one million fans in their first nine years in Milwaukee, reaching a high of 2,215,504 for 73 home dates in 1957.

The club dropped to fifth place this past season and attendance dipped to 767,221 despite an expanded schedule in a 10-team league. It now is in the process of negotiating a new contract for the county-owned stadium, which is not involved in the sale of the team's assets.

Oilers Seek Crucial Win Over Patriots

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Houston Oilers are hoping history repeat itself Sunday.

Just a year ago, the Boston Patriots sailed into Houston for a showdown game. The Oilers won it, 27-15, and that proved to be the difference in the Eastern Division race in the American Football League. Neither team lost another game and Houston went on to its second straight AFL title.

Now Boston (6-2-1) heads for Houston (6-3) again, already boasting one victory this season over the Oilers and with a half-game lead over the champs. Again, it could be the decisive contest for the division title.

The race in the Western Division is just as close with the Dallas Texans (7-2) leading the Denver Broncos (7-3), also by a half-game. And who do the Texans run into Sunday? The Broncos, the biggest surprise of the league this year. This one, too, could decide the winner in the division.

Both games will be televised by ABC. The Boston-Houston contest will go to the Eastern part of the country and the Dallas-Denver battle in the Western Division.

The only other scheduled game Sunday sends the Buffalo Bills (4-5-1) against the winless Oakland Raiders at Oakland. The Raiders have lost 15 in a row in a streak dating back to last season.

While the versatile halfback-kicker was hampered, the Packers' Vince Lombardi was able to call on only three or four capable replacements who ran and occasionally passed like new Hornings, if not like Horning himself.

Now Paul, the National Football League's most valuable player last season, comes back after a month of leg trouble in a kind of rickety-richer situation to beef up a Packers squad that has only won all nine of its games, ranks first in total offense and total defense, has scored more points than anyone else in the league and—to overcome these shortcomings—owns the hardest-to-score-against defensive unit.

Hornung Ready for Duty Again

By DON WEISS
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Green Bay Packers, probably in danger of losing a game one of these seasons, may have Paul Hornung back to fulltime duty Sunday to lend assistance to an attack that hasn't missed him a bit.

While the versatile halfback-kicker was hampered, the Packers' Vince Lombardi was able to call on only three or four capable replacements who ran and occasionally passed like new Hornings, if not like Horning himself.

Now Paul, the National Football League's most valuable player last season, comes back after a month of leg trouble in a kind of rickety-richer situation to beef up a Packers squad that has only won all nine of its games, ranks first in total offense and total defense, has scored more points than anyone else in the league and—to overcome these shortcomings—owns the hardest-to-score-against defensive unit.

A Tough Stretch

For once, the Packers may need Hornung since the defending NFL champs face in Green Bay the Baltimore Colts, who held them to a 17-6 margin the last time the two met. The game, feature of another seven-games Sunday in the NFL, opens probably the toughest stretch the mighty Packers will face until the championship game itself at the end of the season. Once finished with the Colts, the Packers will head for Detroit and their annual Thanksgiving meeting on Thursday with the Lions.

If they're still unconquered after that, they'll be next to odds-on for the first unbeaten record by an NFL team since the Chicago Bears of 1942, and the first by a Green Bay club since 1929.

The Colts, although they have only a 5-4 record, should give the Western Division leaders more of a test than the Eastern leaders. The New York Giants, face from their opponent at Yankee Stadium—the Philadelphia Eagles.

Philadelphia, the flop of the NFL season, has won only one, lost seven and tied one and moves against the pass-happy Giants still reeling from last week's 40-0 loss to Green Bay.

In other games, the Western runner-up Lions (7-2) are at Minnesota (2-7); the Chicago Bears (5-4) are at Dallas (4-4-1); San Francisco (3-6) at Los Angeles (1-8); Eastern runner-up Washington (5-2-2) at Pittsburgh (5-4), and St. Louis (2-6-1) at Cleveland (4-4-1).

Sis Balash is leading the women's division of the Sangli Mixed Foursome league with a robust 186-2, after 27 games, one of the highest female averages in local bowling history. Runerup Ev Gross had 172-15. She also boasts league records of 256 and 614.

To Defend Crown

MANILA (AP)—World lightweight champion Carlos Ortiz of New York will leave for Tokyo Monday to defend his title against Japanese challenger Teruo Kosaka Dec. 3.

Ortiz outpointed Japanese featherweight champion Kazuo Takayama in a non-title 10-round tuncup fight Nov. 7 in Tokyo.

During the first part of the Ivy League football season, when sportswriters and Harvard fans wondered why, Harvard Coach John Yovicsin insisted on keeping senior Hobie Armstrong in the Crimson starting lineup at left half.

The former Kingston High and All-DUSO great wasn't running particularly well. And he was fumbling. But he was doing a lot of other things well in the opinion of the coaching staff.

When someone would ask Yovicsin about removing Armstrong he answered: "You don't bench Mickey Mantle because he isn't hitting at the moment. Hobie will come through for us—just give him some time."

Last Saturday in Harvard's upset of Princeton, Armstrong was hitting hard. He stunned the Tigers with his tackles and blocks, and evaded them when he had the ball.

"Armstrong was giving us good football last month—that's why we kept him in. He's giving us great football now, and living up to all our expectations for him."

In the ball carrying department Armstrong has gained 121 yards in the last three games. Last Saturday he scored Harvard's first touchdown on a finely executed run from the seven yard line.

Good on Defense

Defensively he was even better. "Many people don't even know he plays defense," Yovicsin relates. "But after last Saturday I can say that he is as good as any deep back I have ever coached."

Yovicsin gives a lot of credit to Armstrong for containing the vaunted Princeton offense which was ranked 11th in the nation before the Harvard game. "He moved up well and protected his zone," Yovicsin says. "I couldn't ask for more."

Princeton Coach Dick Colman sadly agrees, singling out Armstrong as one of the biggest problems the Tigers had. In fact, after a review of the game films, Colman lavished more praise on Armstrong for his two-way performance.

Armstrong, who is the fastest man on the Crimson squad, lacks just one accomplishment to highlight his fine season—a long break-away run. "He'll get it," Yovicsin is confident. "It might come this week against Brown."

Wilt Notches 73 Over Knicks

It doesn't seem possible, but San Francisco's Wilt Chamberlain just keeps on getting better in the National Basketball Association.

The Big Dipper shoved in 73 points in the Warriors' 127-111 victory over New York Friday night, setting a Madison Square Garden scoring record.

And, while the output wasn't close to his league record high of 100, it did push his average for the season to a staggering 53.5 points a game.

Syracuse out-lasted Boston 113-105 and replaced the Celtics atop the Eastern Division standings while Cincinnati beat St. Louis, the Western leaders, 120-111 in the other NBA games.

Japanese Team Tops Detroit Tigers, 4-0

TOKYO (AP)—Ace right-hander Minoru Murayama fired a two-hit shutout at the Detroit Tigers today as a Japanese All-Star baseball team whipped the touring American League club 4-0.

Murayama did not allow the Tigers a hit through the first seven innings and permitted only one runner as far as second base.

Murayama, a 25-year-old fast-baller, won 25 games and

Lema Has Edge In Golf Tourney

MOBILE, Ala. (AP) — Top money in the $15,000 Mobile Open Golf Tournament was still pretty much up for grabs today as a trimmed-down field moved into the third round of play.

Tony Lema of San Leandro, Calif., was in front by a stroke after 36 holes with a 67-68-135. But close on his heels were such as Johnny Pott, runnerup in the Mobile Open the past two years; Gay Brewer Jr., the defending champion; George Knudson, of Canada, and a host of others.

The 28-year-old Lema, who has been having the best year of his pro career, moved out in front today with a 4-under par 34-34 over the par 36-36-72, 6,800-yard Mobile Municipal course.

John Paul Jones, the unheralded assistant pro from Hinsdale, Ill., slipped from his opening round 65 to 71 and trailed Lema by a stroke.

Pott, of Gulf Hills, Miss., shot the lowest round of the day, a 32-35-67, and jumped from a 14-way tie for 11th to a three-way tie for third. He now has 70-67-137.

Paired with Pott at 137 were Brewer, of Crystal River, Fla., and Knudson. Amateur Downing Gray of Pensacola, Fla., runner-up in the National Amateur at Pinehurst, N.C., was next at 139, and singer Don Cherry, a fledgling pro, followed at 140.

The field of 137 pros and 10 amateurs was reduced to the low 61 pros and five amateurs for rounds today and Sunday.

1963 WIBC Tourney Scheduled at Memphis

Imperial Lanes in Memphis, Tenn., will be the site of the 1963 Women's International Bowling Congress' championship tournament which opens April 4. Closing date for filing entries is January 10. There will be two divisions in singles, doubles and team events.

Two Tie at 198

Two veteran women bowlers—June Llewellyn of Cleveland and Prim Verger of Alameda, Calif.—tied with averages of 198 during the 1961-62 season to lead all women in the country in the WIBC's high average category. Tied for second place with averages of 196 were Jeanette Bopp, Milwaukee; Pauline DeLuca, Passaic; and Helen Steinmetz, Trenton.

More than 600 women averaged 180 or better during the past season and 189 of these had averages of 185 or better. Forty-four averaged 190 or over. California led all states with 102 women in the 180 plus category. Los Angeles led the cities with 50.

Levy Gets Raise From California

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP) — Marv Levy, a personable young Phi Beta Kappa who won just four games in 28 attempts, will coach football at California for another two years.

University regents, looking more at Cal's promising youngsters than this season's 1-7 record, gave Levy a raise in pay to an estimated $15-20,000 and a two-year contract Friday just as dismissal rumors were growing. Levy, a 37-year-old graduate of Coe College, Cedar Rapids, Iowa, and Harvard University, came here after only two years of head coaching experience at New Mexico. There he was 14-5.

Many alumni grumbled at hiring a relative unknown, but he salvaged a 2-7-1 first season by beating arch-rival Stanford. Cal was only 1-8-1 in 1961, yet knocked Washington out of the Rose Bowl and tied powerful Missouri.

But this year, the Bears so far beat only hapless San Jose State.

Sheba's Land Is Shook Up ---

HUDDLE IN YEMEN: Yemen rebel Brig. Abdullah al-Salal, left, and U.A.R.'s commander in chief, Abdul Hakim Amer.

YEMEN'S Imam hopes to return from his Saudi exile.

UNUSED for years, wraps may come off Red gift planes at San'a, Yemen's capital.

Yemen, ancient country on the Red Sea near tip of the Arabian Peninsula, is the Mideast's current hot spot. Once a part of the ancient kingdom of Sheba, it was a prosperous caravan link between Africa and India. Today, it's Imam (leader) is in exile in Saudi Arabia, but planning a comeback. Rebels who took over the government work closely with Egypt's Nasser who sees in Yemen an opportunity to expand his United Arab Republic. Jordan and, especially, Saudi Arabia, are apprehensive of an attack mounted in Yemen. Should reported incidents increase in severity, an all-out Mideast war could result. Also concerned are Britain and the United States, which have a heavy stake in the oil-rich Mideast.

FOCAL POINT FOR TROUBLE—Trouble lies at junction of the Red Sea and the Gulf of Aden, where Yemen, in control of a rebel take-over is giving cause for alarm to Saudi Arabia and Jordan, and glee to Egypt's Nasser, who backs the rebels. In Yemen's plateau section lies the most fertile portion of Arabia. Her neighbor to the south, Aden and the coastal territory under United Kingdom's protectorate wing, is a land of ill-defined borders, coveted by Yemen as a rich plum ripe for plucking.

Plan to Dedicate Unfinished Dulles Airport Terminal

WASHINGTON (AP) — Dulles International Airport — still a building—was to be formally dedicated today by President Kennedy and former President Dwight D. Eisenhower.

About 100 on worked through the night adding finishing touches, but the sleek new terminal designed by the late Eero Saarinen won't be completed even when the big jetliners start swooshing in and out Monday morning.

Close to 100,000 persons were expected for today's ceremonies. Guest of honor will be Mrs. John Foster Dulles, widow of the secretary of state for whom the airport is named.

Although some airlines will begin regular service to and from Dulles Monday, most plan to wait until after Jan. 1.

Washington National Airport, two miles from the city, cannot handle jets and all civilian jet traffic to the capital has been via Baltimore's Friendship Airport, 32 miles away. Dulles is in Virginia, 27 miles from the capital.

Weinstein Named As Dems Leader In Queens County

NEW YORK (AP) — Assemblyman Moses M. Weinstein, with the backing of Mayor Robert F. Wagner, has been elected Democratic leader of Queens County, replacing a three-man triumvirate.

Weinstein, 50-year-old lawyer, said he would resign his Assembly seat after Dec. 31 to take over the unpaid party post. He had been reelected to a third term in the State Assembly in the Nov. 6 election.

He replaced the combined leadership of City Councilman Seymour Boyers, Michael A. Castaldi and Charles F. Murphy.

Wagner installed the three-man leadership in Queens last April 17 to replace Herbert A. Koehler, who had resigned under pressure from City Hall. Koehler opposed Wagner in his reelection campaign in 1961.

Flowers of the cotton plant are white when they first open but, after a day or two, they turn reddish-purple and die.

Marshall Forces To Save Mongoose From Death Edict

DULUTH, Minn. (AP)—Duluth citizens and officialdom marshaled forces today to save Mr. Magoo, pet mongoose at the city zoo, from the death sentence passed on him by federal agents.

The animal, gift of a foreign seaman who visited here last week, has been ordered destroyed by the Fish and Wildlife Service. His presence in this country is outlawed by a 1920 law, say the government agents, because of the mongoose's reputed ability to reproduce rapidly, sometimes at the rate of six litters a year.

Poo-poo, chorus the backers of Mr. Magoo, citing that he is a bachelor who has become a feature attraction at the zoo. The city even has offered to have him desexed.

No good, answer the federal authorities, there's that law . . . Mayor George D. Johnson is seeking a reprieve for Mr. Magoo in a personal wire to Secretary of the Interior Stewart Udall. Meanwhile he has ordered the city attorney to seek a court restraining order against the execution.

The keepers have padlocked Mr. Magoo's cage and report they have thrown away the key. Citizens are circulating petitions, wiring and writing their congressmen.

Mr. Magoo continues to enjoy his drink of tea now and then. And, tamed by his former sailor owner, he nestles contentedly against the neck of any keeper who picks him up, just as though there wasn't any such thing as a death sentence.

Woman Gets Jail Term

A Poughkeepsie woman was sentenced to 60 days in the Dutchess County Jail Friday. Miss Mary Margaret Murphy, 185 Union Street, that city, pleaded guilty last month before County Judge John R. Schwartz to four counts of petit larceny, which accused her of taking merchandise worth $1,397.37 from the Wallace Co. store at Poughkeepsie. The defendant was ordered to make full restitution during a probationary term of two years.

Weather Called Gloomy Over Wide Sections of U.S.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Gloomy weather enveloped practically the entire country today as overcast skies dropped snow and rain on many areas.

The East began digging out from under snows that measured 11 inches in Old Town, Maine, and 9 inches in Bangor.

Snow pelted the Rocky Mountain states, with Evanston, Wyo., reporting 5 inches, Cheyenne 3, Leadville, Colo., 4 and Denver 1. Snow and rain also fell on the Midwest.

The East Coast storm continued its march across the country, centering near the Ohio Valley.

The Western storm dumped the snow on the Rockies and moved across the middle Mississippi Valley to the lower Great Lakes.

Only the extreme Southeast and Southwest were excluded from the damp weather.

Temperatures in the 20s were prevalent in the Northern Plains and the Rockies. Butte, Mont., reported the lowest temperature, 3, and Bozeman, Mont., reported 6.

Growers Session Here Plans Show On Horticulture

A committee of 20 fruit growers from all parts of New York State, met here all-day Friday to make plans for the annual meeting and show of the New York State Horticultural Society at the State Armory Jan. 22, 23 and 24, 1963.

The delegation was headed by Roger Torrence of Peru, N. Y., president of the society and Thomas E. LaMont of Albion, secretary-treasurer.

Albert Kurdt, manager of Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce, welcomed the group to Kingston and offered the assistance of the convention committee in helping arrange for this big annual event.

The three-day program and exhibit will attract thousands of fruit growers and representatives of related industries to Kingston in January. The exhibits put on by the State College of Agriculture in Ithaca and the Agricultural Experimental Station at Geneva will be of general public interest. Visitors are invited to attend.

Kennedys Will Spend Holiday at Cape Cod

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy and his family plan to spend the Thanksgiving weekend at their vacation home in Hyannis Port, Mass.

The President, Mrs. Kennedy and their children will fly to Cape Cod Wednesday afternoon, where the Kennedy clan gathers traditionally for a Thanksgiving reunion. The chief executive's father, Joseph P. Kennedy, is there now, convalescing from a stroke suffered last December.

City Court Cases

In City Court this morning Judge Joseph D. Saccoman referred one case to Family Court and decided that two other persons should be treated as youthful offenders. The case against Kenneth A. Wells Jr. of Hunter Street was referred to Family Court. He is charged with assault third degree. It was decided that Gloria Jean Parker, 16, of 231 Elmendorf Street and Peter B. Decker, 17, of Box 297, Saugerties, should be treated as youthful offenders. The girl is charged with being an unlicensed motor vehicle operator and Decker is charged with allowing an unlicensed operator to drive.

Truck Burglarized

It was reported to city police Friday night that a truck in the Mitchell Trailer Court on Albany Avenue had been entered by an unknown person who allegedly stole 100 packages of sugar, three pounds of coffee and several paper cups. The total value of the theft was estimated at $7. A coffee urn was also reportedly damaged.

Business Week in Review

By JACK LEFLER
AP Business News Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Economists took another look at business prospects during the week and some saw the likelihood of a predicted early 1963 recession fading.

Improved reports on the economic pace, highlighted by improved automobile sales, inspired optimism.

And Kennedy administration officials renewed their call for a substantial income tax cut next year, arguing that an expected $7.8 billion federal budget deficit should be no deterrent.

Some Market Gains

The stock market responded with some good gains for the third week in a row. Brokers said small investors—their lost confidence at least partially restored—were coming back into the market.

A poll of 45 economists and business leaders showed that nearly two-thirds believe there will be no recession through next year. Those who still expect a letdown feel it will be mild.

The surge of new car sales is giving the economy "a potent shot of confidence," said Byron J. Nichols, general manager of Chrysler Corp.'s Dodge division.

"It could be that what has been happening to the automobile industry in recent weeks is the tip-off that general business conditions ahead will be much better than any of us have been led to expect," he added.

Another industrialist, William H. Shaw, manager of business economics in Du Pont's Textile Fibers division, said that if there is a recession it will come later, rather than early next year. He looks for another quarter or two of hesitant expansion.

"The chances of avoiding recession in early 1963 look a little better now than they did four to six weeks ago," commented the Morgan Guaranty Trust Co. of New York. "This change mirrors not only the Cuban episode, which seems likely to produce some increase in both military and civil defense spending, but also a moderate brightening of business news."

Inflationary Aspect

The administration's announcement that it expected a budget deficit of $7.8 billion in this fiscal year—second highest in peacetime—was considered by some to have inflationary aspects.

The Budget Bureau said, however, that, "With the existing level of unemployment and unused plant capacity, the deficit is neither inflationary nor dangerous to our balance-of-payments position."

Secretary of the Treasury Douglas Dillon and Walter W. Heller, chief economic adviser to President Kennedy, asserted that the bigger than anticipated budget deficit should not be allowed to get in the way of a tax cut.

American travelers received some tax relief during the week when repeal of wartime transportation taxes became effective. It was estimated the savings would total $150 million a year.

All Eastern railroads added the 10 per cent tax on rail fares to their charges in an effort to improve their difficult profit positions. Southern and Western lines passed the savings on to their customers.

The 10 per cent tax on air fares was replaced by a five per cent "user charge" to aid in paying for airports, navigation aids and other government-financed facilities used by the airlines. None of the major airlines planned to raise fares.

New Car Sales Soar

New passenger car sales zoomed to a record of 217,861 for the first one-third of November, causing some manufacturers to increase their production schedules for this month.

To meet the demand, production during the week was held at the high rate of an estimated 163,000, just under the record for the year. The previous week's output was 165,032.

Improvement in steel production was another factor in making the outlook rosier. Output totaled 1,804,000 tons during the week, up 1.5 per cent from the previous week. Demand for steel was running about 10 per cent ahead of the October rate, and steel men attributed much of the gain to a heavier flow of orders from the automobile industry.

Stock sales during the week totaled 23,787,955 shares, up from the 17,413,545 of the previous week—which included election day.—and the 21,900,250 of the comparable 1961 week. Bond sales amounted to $33,545,000 par value, compared with $21,098,000 the previous week and $34,443,000 for the comparable week last year.

The Labor Department reported the average wage of factory workers rose to a record $2.40 an hour in October and September. However, average weekly earnings in October slipped to $96.72, or 72 cents below the September level, because of an 18-minute drop in the average factory work week.

Court Orders Halt To Sale of Dag Misprint Stamps

WASHINGTON (AP)—A wrathful philatelist has struck back at the Post Office Department—but too late to stop it from selling 320,000 intentionally imperfect stamps.

The Post Office had been unloading the special misprints of the Dag Hammarskjöld memorial stamps for four hours Friday when the 3rd U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals ordered it to stop.

The court order was obtained in Newark, N.J., by Leonard Sherman of Irvington, N.J., holder of a 50-stamp panel of the original accidental misprints that he valued at $500,000.

The post office suspended sale but announced that the Justice Department has asked U.S. Atty. David M. Satz Jr. of Newark to petition the entire Third Circuit Court in Philadelphia Monday to dissolve the order.

If successful, the post office presumably will resume selling the misprints. It hopes that by flooding the market with deliberate mistakes it will keep the original misprints from becoming little goldmines for collectors.

Miron Takes Title To Area Land for Shopping Center

Title to a 12-acre portion of the Town of Poughkeepsie dump site for development into a shopping center, was taken Friday by Julie Miron, president of Miron Lumber Co., and the consideration was reported to be about $100,000.

Construction of a 33,000 square foot building which will be under a 15-year lease to the Shop Rite Supermarket chain, is expected to begin soon. Additional stores are planned, according to Miron.

Attorney Robert B. Van DeWater today told The Freeman that the transaction had been consummated, and it will not interfere with the operation of the dumping site by the Town of Poughkeepsie. The property was sold by Van DeWater, his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John B. Van DeWater and brother, John M. Van DeWater.

Miron said the supermarket will cost an estimated $500,000. He stated that under consideration for the remainder of the 12-acre tract, is a discount store operation. He explained there is a space for an additional 80,000 to 100,000 square feet of store space on the site.

Financial Wizard Succumbs in Florida

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Arthur Vin-ling Davis, former chairman of the board of the Aluminum Corporation of America and holder of vast Florida real estate, died today at his home. He was 95.

Davis died in the new pink mansion he had built on his estate, "Journey's End," in southwest Dade County. He moved into the mansion last spring, shortly before his 95th birthday, May 30.

The tiny financial wizard had not been feeling well since Thursday. In recent months he had not been his usual active self in business and had curtailed his once daily visits to his office.

With him when he died were Miss Evelyn Mitchell, his personal secretary and official hostess, and other members of his staff.

Woman Still Critical

An elderly woman reportedly injured in a traffic accident here Friday is reported still in critical condition today at Kingston Hospital. Bessie Keller, believed to be about 67 years old, of 27 Pine Street was taken to the hospital late Friday morning after she reportedly suffered severe head injuries in a pedestrian-truck mishap at Broadway and Cornell Street.

Four States Still Unsure of Voting

WASHINGTON (AP) — Thousands of dollars apparently must be spent and millions of votes recounted to determine at least three governors and one senator. And another gubernatorial race is so close it may go to a recount.

With the election 11 days old, residents of Massachusetts, Maine, Minnesota and Rhode Island still don't know for sure who their next governor will be. The same applies to a Senate seat in South Dakota.

The latest figures show:

States in Question

In Massachusetts, Democrat Endicott Peabody won the official count 1,051,533 to 1,048,562 for Republican Gov. John A. Volpe, a margin of 3,001 votes. Volpe is seeking a recount.

In Maine, Republican Gov. John H. Reed won re-election by 621 votes over Democrat Maynard Dolloff. But Dolloff has filed for a recount of the official tabulation which gave him 146,121 votes to Reed's 146,742.

In Minnesota, Democratic Lt. Gov. Karl Rolvaag held a 98-vote lead over Republican Gov. Elmer T. Andersen as an official canvass of the votes neared the end. The loser probably will ask a recount.

In Rhode Island, Republican challenger John H. Chafee held a 132-vote lead over Democratic Gov. John A. Notte Jr. in the canvass with the outcome hanging on more than 7,000 absentee ballots that won't all be counted until next week.

In South Dakota, Democrat George McGovern picked up a few votes in the official canvass Friday to move 23 votes ahead of Republican Sen. Joe Bottom, who was working on petitions for a recount.

One Vote Pivotal: Volpe

In Massachusetts Gov. Volpe said that he was seeking a recount because a change of one vote, a precinct in his favor would put him ahead. His recount petition is expected to be presented early next week.

Each municipality bears the cost and Secretary of State Kevin White estimated it would run them about $800,000 plus $20,000.

Two Hurt in Crash In Town of Cornwall

Two men were injured early today in separate highway accidents investigated by Newburgh state police.

Troopers reported a car operated by Bruce Kirkpatrick, 21, of Cornwall, went out of control and knocked down guard posts off Route 9W, Town of Cornwall, at 3:25 a. m. The youth received lacerations of the lips and said he would see his own physician.

At 3:40 a. m., William Mims, 37, of Newburgh, was driving his car north on Route 9W near Fostertown Road, Town of Newburgh, when an unidentified car forced his vehicle off the highway. Mims was treated at St. Luke's Hospital for lacerations of the face and abrasions of the left leg, and released.

Former Inmate In Area to Face Dutchess Charge

A former mental patient who recently pleaded guilty in New York City to a manslaughter charge, appeared Friday before Dutchess County Judge John R. Schwartz at Poughkeepsie and asked the court to assign counsel to defend him.

William Shanks, 39, faces trial on charges of conspiracy and escaping from Mattewan State Hospital for the Criminally Insane at Beacon, on June 7, 1953. Shanks had been committed to the institution on Jan. 18, 1947, after being named in a Brooklyn murder indictment.

Shanks was released from Mattewan and returned to Brooklyn, last April when he pleaded guilty to a reduced charge of manslaughter. Earlier this month, Shanks received a suspended 10-to-20-year prison sentence.

In Dutchess County Friday, a plea of innocent was entered by the Judge, who adjourned the case until Friday, Nov. 23 for assignment of counsel for the defendant.

Bridgeworker Killed

WHITEHALL, N.Y. (AP) — Philip Kelly, 37, was killed early today by a truck while walking across a street near his home in this Washington County community.

Police said the driver of the truck, Thomas Cornell of Albany, was arrested and would be charged with leaving the scene of an accident.

Kelly was a bridgeworker for the Delaware Hudson Railroad.
